About Half of Force Reported Captured, Others Pinned Down

MALACCA, Malaysia (AP) — The others were pinned down in about 60 Indonesian guerrillas, swampy jungles 30 miles south of here by a force of Australian troops. The spokesman said a holding action would be carried out through the night, and mopping up operations will be launched at daybreak.

The spokesman reported 25 prisoners taken during initial encounters with police and soldiers along the Kesang River, near the border of Malacca and Johore states. He said not a shot was fired.

The spokesman said the raiders were tracked down, called upon to surrender and came out of the bush with their hands in the air.

Twenty of the prisoners were described as members of a specially trained Indonesian commando unit.

Southwest Coast Prime Minister Abdul Rahman announced five boatloads of guerrillas landed before dawn on the southwest coast between Malacca and Muar.

Home Minister Ismail Bin Abdul Rahman, Malaysia's top internal security official, made a flying tour of the Malacca-Muar area and told newsmen that Malaysian forces had the situation well in hand.

"We have encountered a large number of the invaders," he said, "and the battle between them and security forces is in progress. We have every reason to be successful."

Sudan Army and Civilian Leaders Are Cooperating

CAIRO (AP) — A broadcast from the Sudan said today that the Sudanese armed forces and the leading civilian political group had agreed on steps to restore peace to the Nile country.

"Formation of a new transitional government will be announced in due course," the broadcast said. "Sudanese sources here said this could mean President Ibrahim Aboud was out."

The broadcast, from Omdurman, a Nile River community adjoining Khartoum, the capital, said representatives of the armed forces and the national front had agreed to end the present constitutional system.

Sukarno Future Pondered

LONDON (AP) — The Defense Ministry said British troops today joined a combined Commonwealth operation in bolster Malaysian defenses. The Malaysia against Indonesian forces, for instance, are likely forces which made an amphibious landing.

Elements of a British battalion within the Commonwealth brigade were operating along the side Australians, New Zealanders and Malaysians.

There was no official British governmental comment on the Indonesian thrust, the third in 10 weeks, but officials said they expect the Malaysian government — after consultations with other interested Commonwealth countries — will decide soon whether to refer the incident to the U.N. Security Council.

Urgent Reappraisal The British informants also said an urgent reappraisal now is under way among Commonwealth countries supporting Malaysia to determine just how that country's resistance to Indonesia can be stiffened.

Specifically, the military authorities of Malaysia, Britain

Word of the new Indonesian landing came amid speculation among British, Malaysian and other diplomats that the days of President Sukarno's leadership may be numbered.

Informants said they understand Sukarno is likely to have to undergo a serious operation shortly. Without saying precisely what is wrong with the Indonesian leader, they said they hear he has not fully recovered from an operation he underwent in Vienna, Austria recently.

In addition, these informants cited what they said were indications pointing to the possibility of Sukarno's replacement.

Foreign Minister Subandrio this week was quoted as saying publicly that Sukarno wasn't likely always to be in charge.

Growing internal discontent was reported over the economic effects of Indonesia's confrontation policy with Malaysia.

There are developing pressures within the Indonesian government for resolute action to check the mounting influence of Indonesia's Communist party, and a showdown may be coming.

Ford Motors Threatened With Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. was threatened today with a crippling strike, just as General Motors Corp. got its fifth assembly plant going again after a 31-day nationwide walk-out by the United Auto Workers Union.

The UAW set a strike deadline Wednesday of 10 a.m. Nov. 6 for its bargaining units at Ford which lack at-the-plant working agreements to supplement the newly negotiated Ford-UAW national contract.

Ford figures that 23 of its 90 UAW bargaining units lack such agreements. Strikes by them would involve, among others, nine Ford assembly plants and three key stamping plants.

General Motors still is hobbled by similar local-level stoppages.

The UAW called off a national strike against GM last Sunday, but authorized units without at-plant agreements to remain out until local issues are resolved.

Johnson Gets Pledge From Soviet Leader

Premier Kosygin Says Russia Will Search for Peace

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — President Johnson said today he has received a heartening pledge from the new Soviet premier that the Soviet Union will maintain its own search for peace with the West.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the historic Mormon Tabernacle, Johnson said the United States "must work to guide the inevitable changes that lie ahead" in Communist countries.

Johnson made an overnight stop in Salt Lake City in order to breakfast with David O. McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) and to speak in the church's tabernacle.

West Campaign

After two days of campaigning in the West, the President was pointing his vote-seeking efforts eastward, with other appearances planned today in Wichita, Kan., and Philadelphia.

In his tabernacle text, Johnson said that when Nikita Khrushchev was toppled as Soviet premier, "I sent word to Moscow that our basic policy remained unchanged."

He reported that the new premier, Alexei Kosygin, has replied that "the Soviet Union would maintain its present policies and seek better relations — and maintain its own search for peace — with the West."

Johnson said Kosygin wrote that "the Soviet Union would continue its communications"

Federal Agents Seek 2 Men in Krebiozen Case

CHICAGO (AP) — While federal agents today sought two men reportedly indicted by a federal grand jury investigating Krebiozen, daily users of the controversial cancer drug expressed alarm that their supplies might be cut off.

Names of the indicted men have been withheld until they are in custody, and Judge William J. Campbell of U.S. District Court has set their bonds at $500,000 each. The nature of the charges also has been withheld.

An attorney for the Krebiozen Research Foundation, however, said there is little question but that the indictments are against Dr. Steven Durovic, who developed the substance, and Dr. Durovic's lawyer brother, Marko, Co., the nation's largest with 770,

35,000 Follow Motorcade; Goldwater Says Democrats Should Repudiate Reds

BY DICK LYNEIS

OSHKOSH — Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, made a flat prediction here Wednesday afternoon. "I'm going to beat President Johnson," he said.

During a speech to a crowd estimated at more than 3,000, Goldwater also asked Democrats to repudiate Communist Party support and advised clergymen to leave politics to politicians.

An overflow crowd filled the 1,700-seat Oshkosh Civic Auditorium, and throngs of others heard the senator's speech being piped into the adjacent gymnasium and stood outside the building.

The conservative Arizonan received cheering, enthusiastic greetings from an estimated 35,000 people at the Winnebago County Airport, where his plane landed, along a motorcade route and at the high school.

Cities '48 Election

He drew a comparison with the 1948 presidential election to justify his optimism for next Tuesday's election.

"At this time in 1948," Goldwater told the cheering crowd, "in all of a sudden occurred to me that Truman was going to beat Dewey. Well, all of a sudden it has occurred to me that I'm going to beat Johnson next Tuesday."

Holding up a copy of "The Worker," formerly "The Daily Worker," the official Communist Party publication in the home pre-United States, Goldwater said, "I've been attacked by extremists for not condemning extreme-ism."

Pointing to a banner headline on the paper's front page, Goldwater said, "The Daily Worker says 'Smash Goldwaterism.' I've never heard of any Democrat who says he doesn't want the Communist Party working for him."

Roaring Cheer

"I'm not calling any Democrat a communist," he said, "but I'm getting sick of them not repudiating the communists."

Showing a copy of "The Worker," a communist paper, to the crowd, Goldwater noted it called for his smashing defeat as a

Nation's Oldest Paper Has 200th Anniversary

BY ANGELO NATALE

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The first issue of Hartford's first newspaper, a four-page affair turned out on a hand press, was published on Oct. 29, 1764 — 200 years ago Tuesday.

The newspaper that Thomas Green started now claims to be the oldest of continuous publication in the nation — the Hartford Courant.

"Was it not for the press," Green wrote at the start of the first issue of what was then called the Connecticut Courant, "we should be left almost entirely ignorant of all those noble sentiments which the Antients (sic) were endow'd with."

He said the Courant would be published each Monday with "due encouragement."

200th Anniversary

The Hartford Courant is in the midst of a 200th anniversary celebration that looks back over a period covering America's entire history as a free nation.

In its infant days, as a weekly publication, the Courant was printed on wrapping paper at times when nothing else was available.

Green came to Hartford and started the Courant when he was 29, having left a job as manager of the New Haven office of a New York printing firm.

His plant was a room above a barbershop in a small wooden building on Main Street. Hartford itself was little more than a country town with some shops Courant told its readers, should and homes near the river front, be done "while you enjoy health Green eventually took in a and have the full exercise of partner, Ebenezer Watson, and your reason faculties."

then left the Courant, long before its most serious crisis — a after the Widow Watson's fight fire that wrecked its paper mill during the Revolutionary War.

Mill Destroyed

The mill was destroyed in 1777, while the Courant was being run by Watson's widow, Hannah. He had died of smallpox earlier that year.

Paper was in short supply and British ships blocked all imports, so Mrs. Watson turned to the Connecticut Legislature for a loan to rebuild the paper mill.

The legislature approved a statewide lottery of 6,000 tickets at $6 each. Prizes totaling $31,000 were given out, and the remaining $5,000 went to rebuild the mill. Until the mill was back in operation, Mrs. Watson put out the Courant on whatever paper could be found, and did not miss an issue.

From the very start, the Courant carried news dispatches from foreign countries, but as much as four months late.

Page Two

The Courant, in its July 15, 1776, issue, published the Declaration of Independence as a news story, on the second page, 11 days after it was signed.

In those times, stories were printed in the order they were received. A speech made months before in Congress occupied the entire front page of the issue in which the Declaration of Independence appeared inside.

George Washington placed an advertisement in the March 14, 1796, issue, while serving his second term as president. The ad dealt with certain land holdings that Washington wanted to sell.

The Courant's want ads of 1764 consisted chiefly of notices placed by men looking for runaway slaves, missing apprentices, or indentured servants.

Community Problems

Even in its earliest days, the Courant was concerned with community problems. In 1766 it printed a lengthy discourse which told of the dangers of quackery in medicine and primitive healing potions.

Choosing a physician, the

In 1836 — almost six decades for the paper's survival — John L. Boswell purchased the Connecticut Courant. A year later he started a daily newspaper — the Hartford Courant — but continued the Connecticut Courant as a weekly for "our country readers."

Ended in 1914

The weekly edition consisted of stories that appeared during the week in the daily edition. In 1914, the weekly Connecticut Courant was discontinued.

Frank Luther Mott, journalism historian who died last week, said that evidence indicates that the Hartford Courant "has the best claim to priority" as the oldest newspaper in the United States.

John R. Reitemeyer, the present president and publisher, says that the weekly and daily Courants were "each of a piece of the other, each was listed in the other's masthead, and each had the same common name."

Committee Backs Water Pollution Reduction Plan

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Committee on Water Pollution Tuesday endorsed plans of Kimberly-Clark Corp. at Niagara and the Scott Paper Co. at Marinette for reduction of pollution of the Menominee River and its tributaries through waste materials discharged to the river.

The state regulatory agency directed the two manufacturing firms work toward the completion of pollution abatement plans as suggested in their own proposals and as prescribed in previous orders of the committee.

Scott Paper Co. was told to complete not later than next June 1 improvements to reduce the loss of suspended solids. The pulp mill now discharges about 4,697 pounds of solids to the river each day. The company's plan would reduce such solids loss by about 40 per cent after its planned improvements are completed, it was said.

The committee said the Kimberly-Clark sulphite pulp mill at Niagara was shut down last May and that a new pulp mill is now under construction there. The new mill will consume about 35,000 cords of wood annually which is a reduction from the earlier consumption, but will produce a higher yield of pulp and result in a correspondingly lower oxygen demand per ton of pulp produced. The new mill will go into operation early in 1965.

The company was ordered to "continue efficient operation of its wood room and fiber recovery equipment."

Herbert Hoover Left a Legacy Of Good Advice

Valuable Words
Found in Historical Older Generation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover is gone, but he has left a legacy. Although written 13 years ago, his words contain implicit warnings that apply to American life today. He wrote:

The practical thing we can do if we really want to make the world over again is to try out the word 'old' for a while. There are some old things that made this country

"There is the 'old' virtue of religious faith.

"There are the 'old' virtues of integrity and the whole truth.

"There is the 'old' virtue of incorruptible service and honor in public office.

"There are the 'old' virtues of economy in government, of self-reliance, thrift and individual liberty.

"There are the 'old' virtues of patriotism, real love of country, and willingness to sacrifice for it.

Won't Win Wars

"These 'old' ideas are very inexpensive. They even would help in hot and cold wars.

"I realize that such suggestions will raise that cuss word 'reactionary.' But some of these old things are slipping badly in American life. And if they slip too far, the lights will go out of America, even if we win these cold and hot wars.

"Think about it.

"Our greatest danger is not much as usual: Perpetual chicanery and rather more person- al dangers are that we may al- low ourselves to be led by our ears. But one can go back even to the time of Aristotle, analyzing all public tolerance of scandalous behavior. Or by cynical acceptance of the oligarchies, the monarchies and the democracies of ancient times. These evils, wrote 'A Treatise on Government,' in which he said:

The redemption of mankind by America will depend upon our ability to cope with these evils right here at home.

"Think about it."

The foregoing was contained in a nationwide broadcast by the former president at the Iowa celebration at Des Moines, Aug. 28, 1951.

Many a statesman in history has looked back on his life and pleaded that the voice of experience be heeded, even as of youth in its enthusiasm has brushed it aside with the feeling that what is past is of no value. Yet some young men have expressed a concept of leadership in the community which has endured long after they themselves have passed away. One of the finest essays on the subject of leadership was written by a man destined to be president of the United States — Woodrow Wilson. At the age of 34, he delivered at the University of Tennessee June 17, 1890, a commencement address entitled "Leaders of men." It read in part as follows:

"No cause is born out of its time. Every successful reform movement has had as its efficient cry some principle of equity of morality already accepted well — high universally, but not yet universally applied in the affairs of life. Every such movement has been the awakening of a people to see a new field for old principles.

More Sensitive

"These men who stood alone at the inception of the movement and whose voices then seemed as it were the voices of men crying in the wilderness, have in reality been simply the more sensitive organs of society — the parts first awakened to consciousness of a situation. With the start and irritation of a rude and sudden summons from sleep, society rests the disturbance of its restful unconsciousness, and for a moment racks itself with hasty passion. But, once get it completely aroused, it will sanely meet the necessities of conduct revealed by the hour of its awakening."

Former presidents have looked askance at the passing scene. Like Herbert Hoover, John Adams, our second president, lived to be 90. A few weeks before his death, he wrote a letter to Thomas Jefferson — on April 17, 1826 — which said:

"Public affairs go on pretty much as usual: Perpetual chicanery and rather more person- al abuse than there used to be."

But one can go back even to the time of Aristotle, analyzing all public tolerance of scandalous behavior. Or by cynical acceptance of the oligarchies, the monarchies and the democracies of ancient times. These evils, wrote "A Treatise on Government," in which he said:

"It is necessary and most for the benefit of the state that the offices thereof should be filled by the principal persons in it, whose characters are unblemished, and that the people are not oppressed.

"And whoever would establish a government upon a community of goods, ought to know that he should consult the experience of many years, which would plainly enough inform him whether such a scheme is useful; 'for almost all things have already been found out, but at as 'reactionary.' But these others which have been neglected, and very virtues will be given due weight some day when the facts have not been put in practice." of life finally confront the politicians who have deviated.

Chief's Resignation Ends Brillion Police Force Investigation

Donald Nielsen Turns in His Badge at City Council Session

BRILLION—Police Chief Donald Nielsen turned in his resignation to the police department, effective immediately, Wednesday and with his resignation apparently ended a police force investigation.

Mayor Clarence Wolf's investigation of city police activities, a full-time policeman in addition to the chief. If the budget is passed, the mayor said, applicants for the chief's job also will be kept in mind for the policeman's job.

Nielsen turned in his resignation to the mayor late Wednesday afternoon, and, at the mayor's request, officially presented it before the council at a special meeting called Wednesday night.

Mayor Wolf read the resignation to the council, which unanimously voted to accept it. Nielsen made no statement at the council meeting.

Wolf issued a proclamation Oct. 20 banning intoxicants in the police station, citing police summonses allegedly missing and questioning registration of Nielsen's auto. He said he would start a "full-scale investigation" into police activities here, and called a special meeting of the council Wednesday night to discuss police conditions.

The mayor refused to elaborate on the incidents that provoked the proclamation and investigation. He said at Wednesday's council meeting, "The letter of resignation should be sufficient. I have no more to add. I am looking for a new approach and fresh start relative to police operation in the city."

Wolf said today he and the police committee will begin screening applicants to fill the chief's position "almost immediately." In the interim, relief policeman Francis Polifka and the Calumet County Sheriff's Department will fill the void, Wolf said.

Weight Limit On Bridge Considered

A five-ton weight restriction may be imposed on the Pacific Street bridge, which city officials say, is starting to "crumble."

The council's public safety committee broached the matter Tuesday night and was prepared to recommend the weight limit until members realized it would prohibit city buses from following the present route which takes them over the bridge. The committee decided to withhold recommendation pending consultation with bus company officials.

Earlier, Ald. Robert Stumpf said that Works Director Robert W. Bues suggested the five-ton limitation after $40,000 was deleted from the 1965 budget for bridge repair.

Approved by the committee was a $225 uniform allowance for starting firemen, and $100 annually after one year. The allowances are now $175-$75.

Goldwater Motorcade Stops So Barry Can Chat With Fellow 'Ham'

BY DICK LEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Officials who planned the route for Sen. Barry Goldwater's motorcade through this city Wednesday afternoon had good reason to see that it passed Lourdes High School.

When it stopped, the senator, his wife Peggy, and an entourage of about 200 Goldwater staff members and newsmen got off their motorcade vehicles for a greeting from nearly 1,000 Lourdes faculty members, students and onlookers.

The reason for the stop?

Sen. Goldwater and Brother John, principal of the Christian Brothers high school, had something in common they wanted to discuss — ham radios.

Brother John—"That's a pretty common problem."

The principal said he had never been in contact with the senator on his ham radio. But Goldwater said they may make radio contact in the future.

Brother John explained the school welcomed Goldwater "as a civic gesture. We feel privileged that he stopped here. We would do the same for the Democrats, but they haven't seen fit to pay us a visit."

One Goldwater staff member explained that the Republican national committee is flying the senator around the country for nothing.

Asked to elaborate, he said, "In 1960, it cost the party $700,000 to fly presidential candidate Richard Nixon around the country along with an entourage of newsmen."

He added, "It's different this year. We charge the newsmen a fare to fly along on the 'Via Bi Kin' (Goldwater's chartered American Airlines Boeing 727 jet). They have the back 60 seats on the plane and their fares pay Sen. Goldwater's way."

Appleton Voter Registrations 400 Behind Record 1960 List

86.5 Per Cent of Electors Cast Ballots Four Years Ago

Appleton voter registrations for Tuesday's election totaled 23,962 as of today—400 less than the Kennedy-Nixon runoff in 1960.

The city is not expected to set a registration record in this year's presidential election as originally predicted by City Clerk Elden Broehm.

On Nov. 8, 1960, there were 24,395 Appleton residents registered and 21,110, or 86.5 per cent, actually voted.

Persons who desire to vote in absentia must have their mailed request into the clerk's office by noon Saturday.

The deadline for casting absentee ballots in person at the clerk's office is Monday at 5 p.m.

Persons who have not resided in the state for one year but are eligible to vote in the presidential election only, must vote in person at the clerk's office by 5 p.m. Monday. About 132 persons have been mailed notices to this effect.

A school to give the city's 105 poll workers a last-minute briefing will be conducted at Wilson Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. today.

Computer Error

Hopes for a record registration were shattered earlier in the week when it was discovered the September voter-registration total originally believed to have been close to 24,000, was off by about 2,300 due to a computer error.

However, Broehm hit it right a few weeks ago when he predicted more than 2,000 persons would be registered between the September and November elections.

The increase in registrations during the past six weeks topped the 2,200 mark.

Valley Center Starts First Honors Course

American History Is Only Such Class in State's 2-Year System

University of Wisconsin—Fox Valley Center this year is starting the first honors class in the state's center system, an honors course in American history.

Joseph Conlin, instructor, said the course is intended to give two-year center students the same opportunity as students at the university to earn honors credits for graduation with honors.

Conlin said plans call for addition of honors courses in a number of other subjects starting with the 1965-66 school year. Students attending the centers have "too much catching up" to do in order to earn honor credits under the present center program, Conlin said.

Addition of honors classes at the centers would put center students on the same honors basis as students at Madison, he said.

Students Selected

Students with high academic records are selected and invited to take part in the honors program. In Conlin's American history course, there are six students enrolled, with a capacity of 10.

Students selected from the regular American history course meet two hours weekly for extended discussion and application of study in the regular class.

Conlin said topics discussed in the class's first four meetings included relationship of religion to the early development of capitalism, Jeffersonian and Hamiltonian political legacies, causes of the American revolution and Jacksonian democracy.

Conlin said the course has not yet received honors classification, but accreditation is pending.

Appleton Finance Director Sees $184,000 Total, Up $8,000

Revenues from Appleton this year, leaving only the east parking facilities should be about $184,000 in 1965 as compared to an expected $176,286 in 1964, the Appleton Parking commission learned Wednesday night.

Finance Director Donald Haver in his prepared breakdown of the city prepared operating costs and revenues for the coming year indicated that the 1964 figure included a four-month estimate to cover the end of the year.

The breakdown covered all anticipated expenses including snow removal, law enforcement, wages, meter maintenance, repair and cleaning.

Revenue from parking showed an increase from August to September and is expected to continue through the Christmas shopping season. August monies totaled $13,459.25 and September funds reached $14,205.15.

A breakdown of the monthly totals, showing August and then September, follows:

West Ramp — $1,084.96 and $1,249.18. Lot 2 — $353.20 and $396.74. East Ramp — $1,622.14 and $1,702.49. Lot 6 — $515.51 and $539.94. Lot 7 — $526.87 and $661.13. Lot 9 — $526.87 and no collection taken. City Hall Lot $116.01 and no collection taken. Lot totals — $4,276.17 and $4,614.48.

In addition meter hood rental brought in $885.25 and $1,226.04 in August and September respectively. Parking permits — $65 and $110.65. Street collections — $8,241.83 and $8,254.02.

Pay Off in 1969

The financial report also indicated that final ramp indebtedness will be paid in 1969. Commission Secretary Walter Rasmussen said the last payment was made on the west ramp.

Court Must Set Defense Fees for Needy

Outagamie Bar Says It Cannot Fix Amount Under Present Law

Fees which are to be charged against the county for defense of indigent court defendants are the responsibility of the trial court and not the court-appointed attorney, the Outagamie County Bar Association has pointed out.

Attorneys met Wednesday to study state laws which provide the compensation for court-appointed attorneys and have ruled in effect that they are complying with current statutes in not establishing a fee for court-appointed work.

According to Statute 256.49... "the court appointing the attorney shall, after the services of the attorney have been performed and the disbursements incurred, fix the amount of his compensation for the services and provide for the repayment of disbursements in such sum as the court shall deem proper."

Customary Compensation

The statute states that compensation should be the same as customarily charged by attorneys in Wisconsin for comparable services.

Attorneys receiving a court appointment normally prepare a bill which is then submitted to the trial court for approval. Inc., a department store here, died Wednesday after a short illness.

Barry Differentiates In Speech at Oshkosh

Two words with the same pronunciation have different meanings to Sen. Barry Goldwater. "You can have all the polls he spelled the word out loud: you want," he said, "because they aren't going to hurt me."

"That's p-o-l-i-s," Goldwater laughed, "but you can bet we're going to win a lot of p-o-l-e-s."

According to several experts, many south-side Milwaukeeans agree with the Republican presidential candidate.

A Conference for Food Service handlers was held at the Conway Hotel Wednesday under auspices of the Appleton Health Department. Participants included from left standing, Philip Retson, Appleton, Al Breitrick, Appleton, E. A. Conforti, Milwaukee, executive vice president Wisconsin Restaurant Ass'n., and Herman Leis, Milwaukee businessman. Standing are Douglas Ater of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission and Dr. James W. At the same time William C. Stok, president and chief executive officer of the corporation, announced two principal executives who were previously the company's Marathon Division vice presidents. They are Donald A. Snyder, vice president and general manager of the Marathon Division, and Russell C. Flom, vice president and general manager of the Marathon Division.

Calumet OKs Record Budget; Tax Rate Cent Lower Than '64

Approve $1,018,446 Total Figure; Payments Drop, $4.06 to $4.05

CHILTON—A record budget year total $422,659, up $217,956 from $204,703 in 1964, was adopted Wednesday by the Calumet County board. The board also gave a clear picture of expenditures in the department, not just those which are the responsibility of the county. This year more than $10 million in the county's share of the welfare department budget totals that offset the tax levy increase, just over $59,000.

To produce the levy, a rate of $4.05 per $1,000 of equalized valuation will be needed, compared with $4.06 for the current year's spending. Budget requests this year totaled $752,496, or $265,950 less than this year. Making up for the big increase was inclusion of total expenditures for charities and corrections, which this year totaled $111,806,400. Used for 1965 taxes will be $121,831,100 tax base.

In going over the proposed budget, the board trimmed $114 from the proposed expenditures. County general purposes will require $518,501 in local taxes and its share of state taxes amounts to $24,366 giving a total tax levy of $542,866. However, this was reduced by a $50,000 transfer from the general fund surplus to bring the levy down to the adopted level.

Total estimated revenues other than direct taxes are $499,944. This represents an increase of $228,934 over last year's $271,010. The inclusion of the state and federal aid for the welfare department accounts for the hike.

Income Tax Jump
Other major reasons for the increased revenues included an anticipated jump in income taxes to $50,000 this year. County ordinance fines are expected to be at an all-time high of $4,500, $500 over last year.

With more special retarded classes and teachers aid for this is expected to rise from $4,000 anticipated last year to a high of $10,000 this year. An increase of $6,000.

Other increases were estimated in Calumet Homestead revenue, the county operated home for the aged in New Holstein, of $12,000 from $85,000 last year to $97,000 this year. Income from county trunk systems is expected to reach $113,100, up county park, which totaled $24,366 from the $108,800 received last year.

A $1,000 rise in interest on general fund investments from $4,000 to $5,000.

New Items
New items on the revenues are welfare administration, $20,969; blind aid, $1,615; aid to dependent children, $42,700; old age assistance, $103,750; and aid to totally and permanently disabled, $26,600 for a total of $195,634.

Marathon Affected by Firm Changes

American Can Co To Be Divided Into 2 Separate Branches

NEENAH — A realigned corporate structure for American Can Co. with widespread effects on operation of Marathon — William C. Stok, president and chief executive officer of the corporation, announced Wednesday by corporate structure was further dictated by the rapid diversification and growth of American Can and the need for more streamlined procedures to further the corporation's major policy. Stok said the American Can Co. would be comprised of two major corporate branches: administration and operations.

Product Groups
Taking their place will be two new product groups, the paper products group and the rigid container group.

Each production of Roy J. Sund as chief group will be headed by a vice executive officer who will report to the executive vice president in charge of corporate operations, which includes production and sales. American Can, according to Stok, has adopted a philosophy of more centralized corporate operations as a vital element of the company's continuing profit improvement program. "We are not unique," he added in his talk to the Pittsburgh group, "in recognizing the problem and taking positive action to improve our profit margins."

He declared the change in the organization, realignment economically, thereby permitting the executive said, is the climax of the divisional concept service to our customers. In an announcement last week, Stok disclosed that William F. May had been appointed executive vice president, corporate administration and E. T. Klassen, executive vice president, corporate operations. The turkey dinner will be served at 4 p.m.

coming airborne. There has to be enough runway left to bring the plane to a halt, he said.

One problem that has confronted Goldwater at several campaign appearances throughout the country was almost absent in Oshkosh Tuesday. There were only two hecklers at the Winnebago County Airport among a crowd of about 5,000. The shouts of one of the hecklers, a bearded youth, were drowned by cheers and he gave up.

The only form of opposition was a number of "We Want Lyndon" and "LBJ" signs. There was one "LBJ" sign among the airport onlookers and about 20 along the motorcade route. The ratio of pro-Goldwater signs to Johnson signs was about 100 to 1.

However, the biggest sign was a huge sheet, about 30 by 30 feet, on Knapp Street on the way to the Civic Auditorium. It was on a house and it extended from the top of porch roof to the ground. It said "LBJ."

Visiting Newsmen

The crew of about 200 visiting newsmen from television networks, stations and newspapers impressed the local citizenry, but in numbers only.

Several hostile remarks were shouted at the press corps from fanatical Goldwater supporters. One remark aimed at a reporter was—"We'll never recognize his (Goldwater's) speech after you guys get through butchering it."

Goldwater's claims of a hostile press may have some justification, however, because most of the press corps traveling along with him had nothing good to say about the senator. If he had supporters among the traveling press, they were silent supporters.

One foreign newsmen was impressed by the estimated crowd of about 25,000 which lined the motorcade route.

"All we saw in Cleveland the other day," he said, "was pigeons."

Appleton police arrested Fahrenkrug on S. Oneida Street on April 16. He did not take a chemical test and was released after posting bond of $250.

NEENAH — Friday will be the last day absentee ballots will be placed in the mail. R. V. Hauser, city clerk said. Requests for ballots must be made in writing. Under no circumstances is it possible to honor request by phone calls, the clerk said.

Absentee ballots can be cast in the clerk's office during regular office hours through Monday, Nov. 2. There has been a total of 513 requests for absentee ballots for the Nov. 3 general election, out of a total of 9,519 registrations. This sets an all time record for absentee voting. In 1960 there were 440 requests. In 1956 the clerk's office received 361 requests for ballots and in 1952 requests were honored for 285. Appleton police are seeking a hit and run motorist, believed to be a woman, who damaged two cars in the 600 block of W. Packard Street Wednesday night.

The car driven by the unknown driver struck a parked car as it moved out of a parking stall, then struck a second car being driven on W. Packard Street. The hit and run car is believed to be extensively damaged on the left side.

Defends Budget Request

Loss of Hospital Aids Could Cost Winnebago Taxpayers $521,000

OSHKOSH — If Winnebago County wants to disregard minimum standards for mental hospital patients, it may have to replace $521,000 state aid with county tax money.

Winnebago County Board members were advised of that Wednesday by J. F. Shea, chairman of the trustees for the county hospital and Pleasant Acres Home, and Supt. William O. Vogel.

Richland County found that the case so it shut down its hospital when the state aids were cut off by the state department.

are being held up until the Central Business District plan is released in May. The final segment of the report is expected in July, 1965.

A new policy on meter hoods is still in the drafting stage between Mayor Clarence Mitchell and Commission Secretary Rasmussen.

Several commissioners urged an early report concerning the scope of its jurisdiction. Currently some of the proposed commission duties are being handled by other departments of the city. Mayor Clarence Mitchell and City Atty. Frederick Froehlich are drafting the measure.

The commission instructed Rasmussen to prepare a map showing parking facility locations and indicate time limits and rates for each of the parking ramps. The map is designed to aid in planning and getting more cars to use all the levels. They noted that the upper levels carry a reduced metered parking fee.

Membership in the Municipal Parking Congress was renewed upon the recommendation of Rasmussen and other board commissioners who had attended the informational sessions. Rasmussen was authorized to get estimates on revamping glass panels in the East Ramp waiting room.

Employee Injures Arms in Paper Firm Accident

NEENAH — James T. Cleary, 21, 304 1/2 N. Broad St., Menasha, is listed in serious condition today at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital following an industrial accident at Bergstrom Paper while under the influence of alcohol.

Cleary was injured about 11 a.m. Wednesday when both of his arms were caught in the calendar stack of No. 5 paper machine. The accident occurred as Cleary was breaking the paper web between the dryer section and the calendar stack of the new paper machine. He apparently lost his balance and fell into the machine, a company spokesman said.

A hospital report today indicated Cleary suffered severe crushing injuries to both arms, necessitating amputation of three fingers on the left hand. Cleary was taken to the hospital by the fire department ambulance.

Prisoner Bolts; Returned to Jail

WAUPACA—Dennis Claassen, 18, route 3, New London, a sheriff's prisoner, enjoyed a brief 20 minutes of freedom after bolting from Waupaca County sheriff's office late this morning. Claassen, arrested last week for resisting arrest and disorderly conduct, was conferring with his probation officer when he made his dash for freedom about 11:50 a.m.

He was captured about three-fourths of a mile from the jail near the city athletic field by county patrolman John Bunnell about 12:10 p.m.

Claassen offered no resistance and surrendered after Bunnell fired a shot into the air.

Flares, Equipment Stolen From Truck

Flares and other emergency equipment stored in a truck cab was reported stolen overnight while the driver stayed at a car in the 600 block of W. Packard Street of Grand Chute motel, sheriff authorities said.

Ken Pagel, Wausau, reported known driver struck a parked truck cab was unlocked.

Flare Ignites Hay
Firemen were called to College Avenue and Division Street about 4 p.m. when a car tipped a flare onto hay covering a patch of new concrete. Workers had the small blaze out by the time firemen arrived.

tal is not designed to care for nursing home persons because of its layout and long corridors. Thomsen said the question had been raised as to whether the minimum standard requirement such as to the number of patients per nurse, were too unrealistic. "Go out to the hospital at 6 a.m. and ask those just finishing the night that question. I hope you have a strong stomach and see the clearing up that has to be done," he stressed.

She also outlined the reasons for the $305,000 budget increase, much of which was for additional help required and salary adjustments being recommended by a study committee from the board. Outlays for replacement equipment and $20,000 for a storm sewer to prevent any more basement flooding are asked for next year, he said.

Nurse Problem

We know nurses are difficult to obtain but we must still provide for them, Shea continued. Otherwise, the state might say that we did not plan to meet the standards and thus could reduce or cut out the state aid for non-compliance.

Vogel said the county hospital had only two persons at night in its nursing care ward to take care of 90 persons, half of whom need maximum care. That is asking too much of those two persons, he said.

Supv. R. M. Sensenbrenner said he was sorry representatives of the Oshkosh and Neenah-Menasha Taxpayers Association, who a few minutes earlier had called for cuts in the county hospital budget, did not stay to hear the hospital report and reasons for the increase.

Supv. Oliver Thomsen, Neenah, also was sorry the taxpayer delegates could not stay since they had raised a question about where these patients had been before they were in the hospital.

Care for Ill

"They were on our streets and staying with their families so that these families could not care for other members as they should. Let's take care of our people who are in bad shape physically and mentally. We are not alone in this as every county, state and country has these same problems," Thomsen said. Vogel said the mental hospital

Judge Dohr Studies Fire Station Suit

County Judge Raymond P. Dohr will examine statements of contention from opposing attorneys in a suit to settle damages claimed by an Appleton woman who says the new Appleton fire station is built on five feet of her property.

Testimony in the action of Mrs. Marian Harp, 420 E. Atlantic St., against the city was taken Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 3. Mrs. Harp is seeking approximately $3,500 for the five foot strip of property which she says the city has claimed for its own in building the fire station at Drew and Atlantic streets.

Attorney Gerard Patterson said that Mrs. Harp bases her claim of ownership on a 1873 assessor's map of the city which shows that the property owned by Mrs. Harp begins at a point 176 feet from the intersection of Drew and Atlantic streets. The fire station runs 181 feet from the intersection.

City Atty. Frederick Froehlich has claimed that the map is in error.

After statements are submitted by both the city and Mrs. Harp, Judge Dohr will make a judgment.

Mayor Mitchell in Hospital for Check

Mayor Clarence Mitchell is in Appleton Memorial Hospital for his annual checkup.

Mitchell said he expected to be back in his office in a few days.

He announced the common council will hold an informal meeting on the 1965 proposed budget next Monday night.

Scout Camp Woods Burns

Buildings Spared
At Vic-to-Rae;
10 Acres Scorched

NEW LONDON — About 10 acres of land burned Monday at the Vic-To-Rae Girl Scout Camp, west of New London along the Little Wolf River.

The area of the Fox River Area Camp on which the main building and kitchen area are located was not touched by the fire.

A Wisconsin Conservation Department plane spotted the blaze about 2 p.m. and called rangers to the scene to battle the blaze.

Fire Plov Used

The conservation department caterpillar and fire plov were used to isolate the fire from other wooded areas.

The forest rangers returned Tuesday to check on the scene and extinguish smoldering stumps and trees. Wednesday one dead tree was still burning.

Mrs. Reginald Eckhart said some of the nine tent platforms had been scorched by the fire, but only one had been damaged to the extent it would have to be repaired. The damage was caused when a tree fell on it and broke some of the boards.

Girl Scouts to Baby Sit for Persons Voting

KAUKAUNA — Girl Scout Cadette Troop 323 will participate in the "get out the vote" campaign Tuesday by providing baby sitting service from 4 to 8 p.m.

Twenty-six girls have volunteered to assist in the effort and will work 2-hour shifts. Mrs. Norbert Otto, troop leader, and Mrs. Gilbert Jaeger, assistant, will supervise the affair.

If a sitter is needed, a sitter will be picked up at the polls, taken to the voter's residence while the voter goes in the car to the polls, is returned home and the sitter returned to the polls. Sitters will also care for children at the polls while voters enter the voting booth.

Shiocton Man Injured When Auto, Tractor Collide Near Nichols

Keith Carpenter, 18, route 1, Shiocton, received minor injuries and was treated and released from Appleton Memorial Hospital when his car collided with a road grader about 3 p.m. Wednesday on Grundy Road near Nichols.

County police said the car driven by Carpenter was traveling south on the Grundy Road and hit the grader, being operated by Ben Bates, 46. The grader spun around and went in a ditch. Bates was not hurt.

Associated Press to be Aided in Election Night Coverage by Computer

News Service Will Combine With NBC to Supplement Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Many factors influence a voter when he most instantly—The Associated Press has entered an agreement with the National Broadcasting Co. to supplement AP's own election booth.

Race may be a decisive factor. Another voter may be influenced by his religious teachings, network's Electronic Vote Analysis of returns.

Special Bureau

The AP will operate a special bureau at EVA election headquarters in New York election night. AP writers will study the material as it comes from the computers and will prepare story material interpreting the vote on a national basis and separately in most of the states.

EVA utilizes a bank of seven computers. These have been programmed to compare results and to answer questions asked by AP and NBC election experts on the presidential, gubernatorial and senatorial races.

The complex will receive information, will compute tabulations and projections, and will report — simultaneously. It will report on high-speed printers.

Detailed Data

Each bit of analysis will be based on a mass of detailed information that has been pre-stored in the computers, including vote histories and data on certain "tag areas." The "tag areas" are precincts, wards or counties which have been selected to represent the political behavior pattern of groups within an electorate.

This pre-stored information, compared with actual returns from specific voting units, will supply comparisons with previous elections and show how the candidates are doing on geographic lines, ethnic lines, by income groups, by race and, in some cases, along religious lines.

For example, Polish-American areas in Detroit, Chicago, Toledo and Buffalo might be grouped to provide an insight into the voting behavior of Polish-Americans.

The computers also will provide, showing any deviation from normal, as, for example, that the eastern states voted differently from another group of states or the country as a whole.

Differential Analysis

The multimillion-dollar computer system will be fed totals received from reporters in 6,000 specially selected precincts, as well as the vote totals gathered by the new Network Election Service.

Regional centers in New York, Atlanta, Chicago and San Francisco will transmit vote returns by teletype circuit directly into the bank of computers in New York.

Programming of the computers is a result of years of effort and the total cost of EVA is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Legislature Session to Disappoint Agents, Group Interest Lobbyists

Y JOHN WYNGAARD
The agents and lobbyists of group interests eagerly preparing for the resumption of the deliberations of the legislature immediately after the election, on Nov. 9, are likely to be disappointed. Republican leaders in control of both houses are saying privately that there is very little prospect for serious legislative action, except for some routine correctional measures and other housekeeping details. The session, however brief, will give the members of the lame legislative branch an opportunity to inspect the new furnishings and other facilities provided for them since the recess last summer.

Hail Labor Report

Democratic state administration publicists are hailing the most recent labor market report of the state industrial commission as corroboration of their rosy claims about the extraordinarily prosperous condition of the state.

The most recent count on unemployment, for mid-September, showed a ratio of 2.5 per cent of the labor force as unemployed by the commission, which was cited as the lowest since 1959.

Delegates to the convention of the Wisconsin Education Association in Milwaukee next week will have before them a proposal from the WEA resolutions committee setting out the political rights of "every teacher."

The resolution will recommend to local school boards a "written personnel policy" that "guarantees to all teachers the right to equal pay for equal work, and to equal opportunities in promotion, transfer, and other matters."

Ben Hanneman, the lobbyist for the Wisconsin Towns Association, is becoming more energetic in his resistance to the idea of county board reorganization, which is now an excellent prospect in Wisconsin because of the probability of state supreme court intervention if the 1965 legislature again declines to act on the issue.

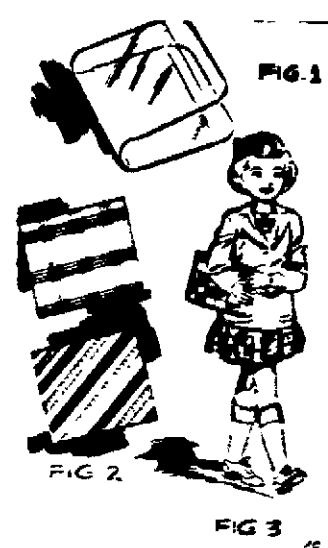

Hanneman reports to his members in a current bulletin that "in all governments in other Midwestern states including Illinois are also up on arms and more evidence that the supreme courts are found to be over."

A towns must unite and put up a fight to prevent the supreme court from reappointing, he declares, adding that his organization will assess each town if necessary to raise an appeal fund to fight the case through the U.S. supreme court.

One of the issues before the Nov. 9 recess legislature of broad public interest is the legislation on the veto by Gov. Reynolds earlier in the year of a new wild animal predator courtly appropriation, which has called bounty payments from the conservation department since that time. Previous

Girl Can Match Cover of Book, Dress She's Wearing

BY CAPPY DICK
This fun-project is for girls that is a cover for a school book which can be made to match the dress the girl is wearing.

Next, get a piece of cloth that is the same as the material from which your favorite school dress or coat was made.

Cover Notebook
The piece must be large enough to cover the front and back of your notebook. The plastic cover will hold the cloth in place.

The girl in Figure 3 is carrying her notebook that has been covered with the same checked material from which her dress was made.

You can make several cloth covers matching various dresses. In as much as these pieces of cloth are not actually attached to the notebook it is a simple matter to exchange one piece of cloth for another.

Court Asked for Rights Opinion

WASHINGTON AP — More than 300 attorneys in Atlanta have asked the Supreme Court to announce before election day its decision on constitutionality of the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Act.

Robertson, an official of the state aids to counties for an Atlanta motel, argued before local conservation groups the motel's appeal Oct. 5, asking the court to uphold the decision of a lower federal court upholding the motel's plan and regard it as political but undisputed.

The Supreme Court is now in recess until Nov. 9.

Community Theater to Stage 'Night of Iguana'

Jingo Commends Cecil-Bonduel-Shawano Thespians for Attempting Williams Play

High commendations must be winged to the CBS Community Theater for its selection of "Night of the Iguana" for its production scheduled for Nov. 14 through 15.

The commendations, perhaps, can be better appreciated when it is explained that the CBS of the name does not apply to the huge electronic entertainment empire but to the initials of Cecil, Bonduel and Shawano in which the community theater operates. The Williams' play will be staged at the Bonduel High School gym with curtain time at 8:15 p.m. each performance.

The CBS Theater is relatively young and its selection of such a vehicle speaks well for its courage and ambition. The show is one of Williams' typically theatrical examinations of emotional illness, filled with stage excitement but pocked by dangerous pitfalls for both director and actors.

Big Reach
The only sure avenue toward growth is through the perils of reaching beyond the common-place. If it weren't against the traditions and superstitions of the roll's Nov. 19 through 21 production, Jingo would wish the cast, Audrey Jones, DuWayne, while Neenahite Ziem will appear as Master Richard Rich. Illinois' 26 Electoral Votes Meter of Presidential Races

Polls Give Johnson the Lead, But Barry's Workers Undaunted

BY CHARLES WHALEN
SPRINGFIELD Ill. (AP) — has built a substantial lead in the battle for its 26 electoral votes. But this hasn't daunted state election officials, who have drawn concentrated attention to the bustling door-to-door activity of the turnout of voters will fall from both President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater's hard core of workers for president in 1960.

"Let Us Continue"

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which conducted a registration drive, estimates nearly 500,000 Negroes will vote in Chicago. This would be an increase of about 100,000 over two years ago.

Records going back to Calvin Coolidge's victory in 1924 show Illinois has been on the winning side in presidential elections every time.

Cook County, with a little more than half the state's population in Chicago and the suburban area, also has been an accurate barometer.

Sun-Times Poll
The Chicago Sun-Times, in its latest poll, gave Johnson 64 per cent and Goldwater 35.70 per cent of the statewide vote. Such a percentage of the expected turnout on Nov. 3 would enable Johnson to top Dwight D. Eisenhower's 847,000 plurality in 1956.

Four years ago, John F. Kennedy carried the state by a slim 8,858 votes.

Coalition riding may play a part in the result of the presidential and gubernatorial races. One Democratic state candidate, in predicting victories for accepted Gov. Otto Kerner and the rest of sticking to state matters in his the state ticket, says Johnson campaign will be fully responsible if it happens.

Kerner vs. Percy
In 1960, Kerner won his race by more than 500,000 votes — a six times better than Kennedy's margin.

Kerner currently is matched in a down to the wire contest with Republican Charles H. Percy, who is running well ahead of Goldwater in straw polls. Kerner on the other hand, trails Johnson in the straw polls.

Percy vehemently denies charges he is not wholeheartedly supporting Goldwater. Although he differs sharply with Goldwater on some issues, notably civil rights, Percy notes

Name Yale Dean New AFS Chief
Arthur Howe Jr., dean of admissions and student appointments at Yale University since 1956, has been elected president of the American Field Service, to fill the position left vacant by the recent death of Stephen Galatti.

Howe has been with AFS since 1942 when, a freshman at Yale, he volunteered as an ambulance driver. He advanced to the rank of major and received several wartime citations. After the war AFS disbanded its ambulance corps and initiated its international scholarships program. He was elected to the board of directors and in 1952 he became a vice president. A number of Fox Cities and area high schools participate in the AFS students exchange program, in which foreign students spend a school year attending the high schools and American students go abroad in AFS summer program.

Societies Of Man Discussed

Gilbert James concluded his seminar, "Three Faces of Man", Wednesday afternoon at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center, Menasha. He discussed with the group one way of looking at human behavior which he uses because it explains much of human behavior.

The social face deals with inter-relation of people. Dr. James said. The cultural side is composed of patterns of living and ways of doing things. Mores, customs, folkways, taboos, skills and values are transmitted through the culture system.

Defines Society

"Society," Dr. James said, "is a large aggregate of people interdependently organized to be self-governing and self-sufficient. It persists through time beyond the length of the life of any individual."

Listed as prerequisites for society were that members must be replaced, socialization takes place, goods and services produced, and senses of order and purpose exist. The sense of purpose gives meaning to life. The cultural institutions include the family, means of exchange, government and religion. All cultures are not alike, however, because different kinds of families, governments, exchanges and religions exist.

"If a country is Catholic, you can predict the type of government, trade and economics it will have," Dr. James noted.

In discussing Max Weber's "The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism," Dr. James said the author maintains that the capitalistic system arouse out of the emergence of the Protestant Reformation.

Calvinism taught dual prement, trade and economics it destination Calvinists believed will have," Dr. James noted.

In discussing Max Weber's "The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism," Dr. James said the author maintains that the capitalistic system arouse

"Our of these beliefs emerged the notion that God favors His own people. Prospering in business was an indication of salvation," the speaker stated. Weber points out that the result was striving, hard work and frugality. The Industrial Revolution and capitalism resulted.

A Place tissue paper underneath the fabric. Then rip it off after you finish the job.

Q What is the difference between lining and underlining?"—Miss L. T.

A Lining material covers some or all of the inside of a garment and is cut from the pattern pieces it covers. It is also made separately and joined to the garment at one seam, such as at the waistline. Underlining covers part of a garment or completely backs its inside. Underlining is also cut from the pattern pieces it covers, but both the underlining and the garment pieces are handled as coffee was served, the group at one when stitching the garment tended ground breaking cere-together. underlining piece is laid on the wrong side of each garment piece and all sections of the garment are stitched together as though each was one layer.

Q Why does nylon thread pucker when I use it on nylon fabric? Could I be using the wrong thread?"—Miss B. M.

A No, you are not using the wrong thread, but you may not be handling it properly. Use a looser tension than usual and a light pressure to prevent puckering. Also use a stitch length of 10 to 12 per inch. You can also use mercerized cotton thread if you wish.

Can Compound Desperation Heavy Installment Payments

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: We got on loans from a bank, a credit union, and $20 on a new washing machine. There's $108 left in a vicious circle ever since. My husband is a federal employee and has had small but steady raises. But our family expenses have increased. We have three children, ages five, three, and 10 months. My husband's take home pay is $168 every two weeks, and after taking out his necessary personal expenses, my net balance is $138 every two weeks or $276 a month.

After paying rent, insurance, and utilities, plus $74 a month on loans from a bank, a credit union, and $20 on a new washing machine, there's $108 left each month for food, vitamins, shoes, gifts, contributions and anything else that comes along. Our total debt is now $1,800. However, we have ten shares of a good stock. This is now being used as collateral on a loan. We have always considered this stock our little hunk of security. Can you see any possible solution to our problems?

P. C., Brooklyn

Dear Miss Feeley: A retired couple receive social security—one check made out to both names. May the husband claim the entire check as his own income, or may the wife claim her share?

If the wife refuses to sign the check may the husband sign her name?

Mrs. H.S., Chicago

Dear Mrs. S.: The wife may claim her share of these social security benefits. If she doesn't know what her share amounts to, since it is not broken down on the check, she can refer to the copy of the certificate award which the social security office sent when the pension went into effect.

Her husband cannot sign her name to the check, as both signatures are needed on a joint check.

If joint payment is causing trouble in the family, the couple can request their local social security office to send separate checks.

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband got some life insurance after having a mild heart attack and is paying what I think is a tremendous amount! $10 a month for a $1,000 policy, cash value $300 in ten years. On top of this, just $500 would be paid in case of death during the first three years.

Is this the regular price of these special policies? Am I just mistaken or am I right in thinking he is paying too much?

M. C., Miami

Dear M.C.: First, let's clear up a misunderstanding — there's no such thing as "these special policies."

Your husband is not paying for a "special policy," he's

Dear Mrs. C.: A possible solution, yes, but not a quick and easy one. Those installment payments cut too deeply into the budget — in fact, they total 21.5 per cent of your income and that just won't work.

What are the chances of refinancing one or both of the loans, so you can stretch out repayments in smaller monthly amounts? If this can be arranged, you can finish paying off the washing machine (which I'm sure you need, with three small children) and still manage to eat. Even a low-cost food plan for a family of your size figures about $185 a month.

You don't mention borrowing possibilities on your husband's insurance — but with such young dependents you'd better not tie that up. I hate to suggest selling your stock, but unless you can reduce the monthly loan payments I'm afraid you have no other out. Getting one of the loans off your back would give you some relief. I realize you may never have another opportunity to buy that particular stock under favorable circumstances. But I believe that continuing to live in your present state of financial desperation will prove a more costly choice.

Your Problems

'Plastered Polly's' Behavior
Disagreeable to Hosts, Guests

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last night my husband and I gave a cocktail party. Polly, the guest of honor, was never much of a drinker and I was surprised when she became plastered.

When Polly complained that it was frightfully hot in the house and began to disrobe I took her aside and told her she'd had too much to drink. My husband suggested she lie down.

She became furious and shouted, "That's a lie. I am just as sober as anyone in this room." Then she fell flat on her face. My husband carried her to a bedroom where she passed out. This morning when we awakened Polly was gone. A note on the dresser read: "You humiliated me before your guests. I will never forgive you."

I am heartsick over this. Shall I call Polly and try to patch things up? My husband says if he never sees her again it will be too soon.

Please advise me. — Chagrined

Dear Chagrined: Your friend's note was a feeble effort to shift the blame for her disreputable performance. Do not fall for it.

Make no effort to patch things up. If Polly apologizes, accept it graciously.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem concerns both etiquette and ethics. I'm a college student whose university is a convenient bus or train ride home. Each time I make the trip I manage to draw a seat mate who insists on pouring out his or her life's story. No tale is too lurid, too intimate, too tragic, or too long to repeat.

I listen politely, Ann, hoping perhaps the unhappy soul will get some measure of relief from pouring out his problems. At times, however, I think I'm being imposed upon and that these people just like to hear themselves talk.

The point at which my patience snaps is when some stranger tries to pump me for details of my personal life.

My question is two-fold. What obligation do I have to a person who happens to be seated next to me on a bus or train? What is an appropriate way to avoid answering improper questions? — Coed

Dear Co: You have no obligation to listen to anyone's life story. Some folks enjoy having their ears tickled off (believe it or not) but those who would prefer to read or just gaze out the window should not be robbed of the pleasure by some tasteless, big-mouth bore.

How to turn away an improper question? Simply say, "I don't care to talk about that."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a husband who has been out of college for 19 years but is still there, emotionally? He can't wait until his college bulletin arrives so he can read aloud the current adventures of people I don't know and don't care to know.

Yesterday he accepted the perhaps the unhappy soul will chairmanship of the 20-year

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

RE-MARRIED
Dear Louise: The parents of my daughter's fiancé were divorced and each has remarried. The boy has been adopted by his step-father so bears his name. His real father and his wife will be present at the wedding. How should all of them be seated?

Miss Davis

Louise Davis Answers:
The bridegroom's mother and her husband have priority for the seating at the wedding, especially so because the husband has adopted the boy and therefore is his legal father. They are seated in the first pew on the right facing the altar. The original father has no status, neither does his wife. They would be classified as guests and sit some distance back, so that they are far apart from the mother and her husband.

CO-WORKERS BURNED
Dear Louise: We in our office have received three wedding invitations. We know the brides' fathers but not the brides, their mothers or any of the families. What is expected of us? We took up a collection for one of the brides who was married last June and so far haven't received a thank you note or on acknowledgment.

Louise Davis Answers:
I suggest that you take up two more collections inasmuch as you have received invitations and as you know the fathers of the brides. Let us hope that these two future brides will do the right thing by writing thank you notes. They shouldn't be punished for the thoughtlessness and ill manners of the first one.

Apple Butter An Old-Fashioned Treat

The best brief description of much toward end of cooking, should hold the jars about a half-inch above the bottom of cover, if necessary. Turn hot apple butter into the canner and the kettle. Food Mill Handy

Apple butter wouldn't be apple butter, of course, if it didn't spit, but low heat will keep down spattering. An up-to-date food mill does a good job of straining the pulp.

The cook who owns the following recipe says her children adore this homemade apple butter when it is spread over peanut butter or cream cheese in sandwiches to take to school. For after-school snacks, they like the apple butter on graham crackers.

APPLE BUTTER

- 3 quarts strained apple pulp
- 6 cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup lemon juice

To prepare the strained apple pulp wash apples and quarter without peeling or coring. Remove blossom ends and stems. Place apples in a large kettle. Add just enough water (about 1/2 cup) to keep apples from scorching. Cover and cook over low heat until apples are soft, stirring occasionally with a long wooden spoon to move uncooked apples to bottom of kettle.

Put cooked apples, a portion at a time, through food mill placed over a bowl. Measure strained apple pulp into a large kettle. Add sugar, cinnamon, cloves, orange and lemon juices.

Low, Slow Heat

Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until thick. This may take anywhere from two to four hours depending on how fast you cook it. It is long slow cooking that gives this apple butter an excellent flavor. To keep apple butter from spattering too

10-Year-Old Daughter Needs Mistaken Notions Corrected

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: My daughter is 10 years old. But she's so shy and gets so embarrassed when I try to have a mother-daughter talk with her, that I have not been able to make her understand the things she should. Would you pamphlet, "The Facts of Life for Your Pre-School Child," help me?

Real lives. The amount of time healthy children spend passive in front of the television screen is probably more important than the shows they watch. A pre-school child shouldn't be allowed to watch more than a half hour a day — a young child easily becomes tense and whiney if he isn't encouraged to run around and get rid of his energy. A school child can probably be allowed to spend an hour a day watching on weekends, when he isn't otherwise occupied. But on schooldays, watching should be kept to a half hour, too, and only after he has played outdoors for a while at the close of the school day, and if ample time is devoted to home work and chores.

If nothing else is causing tensions and stimulating your child's hostility, watching even the most violent television shows for a half hour a day shouldn't disturb your child or encourage him to hurt himself or others.

To receive your copy of Dr. Jones's pamphlet, "Telling Your Teen-Ager About Sex," send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Eve Jones, Appleton Post-Crescent.

Good Coffee Matter of Knowing Rules

It's easy to make a perfect cup of coffee.

But a survey shows only one out of five women knows how to brew coffee properly. It's very simple if you observe these rules.

Start with the best blend of coffee you can buy.

Keep your coffee pot immaculately clean.

Don't use a tea cup or coffee cup to measure the water. They vary in size. Use a measuring cup.

Don't use spoons to measure coffee. They vary in size, too. Use a coffee measure.

Start with fresh cold water.

You can't brew one cup of coffee in a four-cup coffeemaker, or two cups in a six or eight cup coffeemaker. Brew more than one-half the capacity of a coffeemaker to get a full-bodied cup of coffee.

Never allow coffee to boil after it has been brewed. Coffee, of course, is at its best when freshly brewed.

Wash Piano Keys With Soap, Water

When piano keys were made of real ivory, denatured alcohol was regarded as a suitable washing agent. However, this is to do it. When you're introduced to an older person, stand up and stay standing until she is seated. And when you're with a friend relaxing and listening to records in her room and her mother appears at the doorway, it's proper and respectful to rise and stay standing until she either leaves or comes inside and sits down. Now, if you have a brother, why not pass this tip along to him in a covered container and use too, boys always rise when a woman, girl or older man comes into a room.

Bacon Fat

Cook bacon over very low heat so the bacon fat will be white in color and mild in flavor. Refrigerate the bacon fat in a covered container and use for frying chicken, in a rice woman, girl or older man comes into a room.

STANDING GOOD MANNERS

Rise and shine and show your good manners. And here's when to do it. When you're introduced to an older person, stand up and stay standing until she is seated. And when you're with a friend relaxing and listening to records in her room and her mother appears at the doorway, it's proper and respectful to rise and stay standing until she either leaves or comes inside and sits down. The Ailing House

Removing Paint With Solution

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have some chairs that I would like to remove paint from. Because of spokes and spindles, I would like to make a deep bath to soak them in. What inexpensive solution could I use?

A: Don't recommend submerging the chairs in a bath. The water solution will penetrate into the wood, expand the fibers, and take too long to dry out thoroughly and completely. Water may lodge in the joints, etc. I suggest using a method employed by some cabinet makers: Scrub the chairs down with a very strong solution of sal soda concentrated. Rinse off with plenty of clear water. Wipe off all surface moisture and allow wood to dry thoroughly before refinishing.

Q: I have offered to help my mother remodel her kitchen. I love to make things over. The sink is being replaced. In back of the old sink is plastic tile. How can this be removed so it can be re-used on the other wall when I plan to take down the cupboards? Can part of the rubber tile on the floor be removed to be used elsewhere? Read that you heat floor tiles to remove them. How do I do it?

A: Heat is used to soften the adhesive for asphalt floor tiles, so that the tiles can be easily lifted. It is not suitable for rubber tile; heat would affect the rubber. The rubber tile can be removed by placing about 10 pounds of dry ice on an area and allowing to remain 10 to 15 minutes. The tile and adhesive will become brittle enough to be pried up with a putty knife or similar tool. Whole prying up one section, brush the ice along to an adjacent area. Be sure to wear heavy gloves while handling the dry ice.

To remove the plastic wall tile: Force a wide blade putty knife under the tile by a few hammer taps and pry the tile off the wall. Residual cement can usually be taken off with paint remover. An electric sander can also do the job.

Q: Where may I purchase a type of paper, I think called translucent illuminizing paper? It is used for illuminated pictures.

A: This type of paper should be available at large stores handling photography equipment and supplies.

Be Explicit at Beauty Shop

Only 60 per cent of the 25,000-600 patrons visiting beauty salons this Fall will be satisfied. Failure among the other 40 per cent will be due to poor communication between patron and stylist.

To improve your chances of success, at your favorite shop follow these suggestions.

Do — be specific as possible in telling your hairdresser exactly what kind of style you want. Do — tell her why you want a change. Example: Party, ball, job, time-factor, etc.

Don't — expect the stylist to make you appear exactly like the photo you bring. You are an individual, and it's best to adapt a flattering hairdo to your own going from dark to a light color that may appear as a result of best features.

Do — tell the hairdresser how color to previously bleached hair. Do — allow enough time this colors, especially reds or golds, them along.

Fall for one lengthy visit which may include a permanent and re-styling.

In trying a new color, know exactly what you're asking for. Check over this vocabulary:

Tint: to color hair permanent-ly; to penetrate with color.

Bleach (or strip): to remove the pigment from hair prior to add- ing new color — necessary when a flatter- ing hairdo to your own going from dark to a light color that may appear as a result of best features.

Tone: to add a pastel hair color to previously bleached hair. Do — tell the hairdresser how color to previously bleached hair. Do — allow enough time this colors, especially reds or golds, them along.

Electric Skin Eraser

A gadget-age replacement for rubbing dead skin and calluses with pumice is a new electric "eraser" which removes these, and also helps to smooth away corns. Before using, however, make sure to soften the affected area by soaking in warm soap-suds.

Miracles are being performed every day in beauty salons — but you can be prepared to help Do — allow enough time this colors, especially reds or golds, them along.

Sheinwold First Lead Should Set A Defense

hand and the dummy." "West opened the king of spades, and East thought for a long time but then played low. West switched to a low club, which rode around to South's queen.

"Declarer then knocked out the ace of trumps, and it was all over. No matter what happened now, declarer could draw trumps and discard his clubs on dummy's good diamonds.

"During the postmortem East said that he thought of overtaking the king of spades with the ace but wasn't sure whether to return a club or a diamond. A diamond return would be vital if West had a singleton diamond and a weaker club holding than K-J.

"East let his partner win the first trick so that he could switch to a diamond himself if he had a singleton. If West didn't have a singleton diamond he might be able to lead clubs safely by himself.

"Was there a way for East to know that it was imperative for him to win the first trick with the ace of spades and return a club?"

Two Clues

If West had a singleton diamond and ten black cards he would probably bid five spades instead of letting South play the hand at five hearts. He would expect to be down one at most, and he would be worried about losing the rubber if South made five hearts.

The nature of the lead furnishes another clue. In view of the bidding, West could hardly expect to defeat five hearts with spade tricks alone. If West had a singleton diamond he would almost surely open his singleton instead of leading the king of spades.

Neither clue was a certainty taken by itself, but the combination of both clues should have persuaded East to take the first trick with the ace of spades and return the ten of clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S J 6 4; H 8 7 2; D K Q J 7 2; C A 5. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You have 11 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton. You would open a 12-point hand with a good major suit and 2½ quick tricks, but not when your suit is a minor and when you have only 2 quick tricks.

School Board Undecided on Five Architects
KAUKAUNA — The board of education interviewed five architects to design the proposed elementary school for the city Tuesday evening, but were unable to come up with a recommendation.

Board members indicated a special meeting would be called in the near future to select an architect. All architects interviewed were from the Fox Valley area.

Saturday's Games:
Lawrence at Monmouth
Beloit at Cornell
Coe at Grinnell
Knox at Carleton
St. Olaf at Ripon

BY JIM HARP

What appears to be a par of evenly matched Midwest Conference foes will clash Saturday when Lawrence University travels to Monmouth, Ill. to meet Monmouth College.

Both teams have 14 conference records, and both have accumulated about the same offensive and defensive statistics through the first five games.

What may make a difference in the outcome will be the fact that Monmouth will be coming off its first win of the season, a 21-7 triumph over Knox last week, while Lawrence will be regrouping forces after a 40-6 loss to leading Ripon in the Vikings' homecoming tilt.

Coach Bernie Heselson will be faced with the task of getting his charges "up" for the tilt with an eye toward preparing the Vikes for an improved Mon-

Packers Anxious for Another Chance at Tarkenton and Vikings

Minnesota Has Won 2 Straight Going Into Clash

BY ART DALEY

GREEN BAY (AP) — The "wrong" team won the last Packer-Viking game. The Vikings had a man run the wrong way last Sunday, and what's wrong with booming the Packers for a victory Sunday.

Right or wrong, this is for sure. The Packers will come out blazing in Minneapolis three days hence.

The mere memory of the Vikings' 24-21 victory over Green Bay in City Stadium Oct. 4 is enough to make any Packer backer snort for another chance at the Vikings. A look at the play-by-play of the game makes a feller wish it was Sunday right now.

The Packers, who will see movies of that game along the practice way this week, can't help but be a little itchy for revenge.

Leading 21-20

Remember how that game went? The Vikings were leading 21 to 20 going into the fourth period and our boys started a drive on their own 5-yard line.

The big gainer was a 35-yard run by Tom Moore on a reverse around his own left end.

The Bays reached the Viking 10-yard line in seven plays, the last of which was a 32-yard pass from Bart Starr to Max McGee. The attack stalled on the 12-yard line and Paul Hornung went back to kick a field goal from the 20.

Paul Hornung? You bet, and he made it to put the Bays ahead 23-21 with 4 minutes and 32 seconds left.

After a punt exchange and five Viking plays slippery Fran Tarkenton got off his desperation fourth down throw to Gordon Smith for 44 yards to set up Fred Cox' game-winning field goal.

Since that game the Vikings lost to the Lions, 24 to 20 and then beat the Steelers, 30-10 and the 49ers, 27-22. The Packers, since then, trimmed the 49ers, 24-14 and then lost to the Colts, 24-21 and the Rams, 27-17.

Thus, the Vikings go into Sunday's match on the run while the Packers face the prospect of getting out of the starting blocks.

The Vikings got a big break.

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, who have a score to settle with the Vikings, have been the object of a little sweet talk by Minnesota Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

"The Packers are still one fine football team," Van Brocklin said Wednesday as both sides prepared for Sunday's National Football League game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The Vikings got past the Packers by a single point, 24-23, in their earlier meeting at Green Bay. And Minnesota is fourth in the Western Division standings on a 4 and 3 record. The Packers are fifth, showing four defeats in seven starts.

Van Brocklin was asked if it were unusual for him to be looking down on the Packers, and replied, "It would be unusual for 13 teams."

He also added a word of caution, reminding, "It's only mid-season."

The Packer performance so far in the season is reflected in the statistics. The latest figures, announced Wednesday, show the Packer defense is the best in the league but the Green Bay offense is seventh.

The defensive unit has surrendered 1,727 yards, 822 on the ground and 905 in the air. How-

Appleton Bids for '67 National Legion Baseball Tourney

Seeks to Put U. S. Finals In State for First Time

Appleton is bidding for the placed. The deadline for bids is Dec. 31 of this year.

Appleton's bid is approved, it would mark the first time that the national finals would be played in Wisconsin. The state has played host to national regionals and sectionals in the past.

Beltrone is forming a committee to organize support from local business and civic groups for the national bid. Letters will be sent out to various groups asking that the venture be supported in one way or another — with manpower, finances, etc.

Legion representatives will also seek to speak before various clubs and present their case.

Brochures, including letters of support from various civic and business groups must be submitted by Beltrone before Dec. 31.

The Appleton Legion post has already received the endorsement of the Outagamie County Council, the Ninth District and the state Legion department in its drive to secure the '67 national.

The 1965 national finals will be held in Aberdeen, S. Dak., the birthplace of Legion baseball. In 1965, Appleton will play host to the state Legion tourney for the third straight year.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee County moved Wednesday to keep its legal fight with the Braves in a state court.

The Braves have announced plans to shift to Atlanta for the 1965 season but the county has gone into court to force the National League baseball team to live up to its County Stadium rental contract which extends through next year.

The county presented in U.S. District Court the arguments it will use in a Nov. 5 hearing on a request by the Braves that the case be moved to federal court.

The Braves sought the shift to federal court after the county had obtained in Circuit Court an order preventing the club from moving or from asking other National League club owners for approval to move.

The Braves argued in their federal action that the baseball club was principally a Delaware corporation with main offices in Chicago.

The county claimed Wednesday that the Braves were a Wisconsin operation and listed the names and addresses of seven shareholders-directors who live in the state.

Also presented was an affidavit from William R. Anderson, stadium manager, that said the Braves were a member of the "National League of Professional Clubs" and held a franchise to operate in Milwaukee. The affidavit said that part of the Braves' agreement with the league provided that the team play 50 per cent of its 1965 games in Milwaukee.

Anderson noted that the club played nine games in Chicago, the city which the Braves listed as their main office.

Marquette Frosh To Play 14-Game Cage Schedule

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Marquette University freshman basketball team will play an intercollegiate schedule this season for the first time in a dozen years, Athletic Director Stan Lowe said Wednesday.

In previous years the Warrior freshmen limited their activity to games with the varsity and corporation with main offices in the varsity reserves.

This year the freshmen will play a 14-game schedule, including eight games with other schools. They will open the season Nov. 14 against the Warrior varsity and will play their first road game Dec. 16 against the Loyola freshmen in Chicago.

Staubach Carries Navy Hopes Against Irish

BY HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Navy will bank heavily on an improved Roger Staubach to derail Notre Dame's fast rolling football express in Philadelphia Saturday.

But the Middle quarterback is still not fully up to the scrambling best against a rushing Navy offense failed to score against Georgia Tech and Michigan.

Staubach will need to be at a rushing Notre Dame defensive unit that Navy scout Steve Belichick describes as awesome.

Notre Dame has yielded only 35 points to five opponents, while scoring 151, and on the ground has given up only 135 yards rushing for an average of 27 yards per game.

The Navy defense has yielded 43 points for six games and will be severely tested by the record-breaking passing combination of John Huarte to Jack Snow as well as a powerful Notre Dame running attack.

Wally Moon Elected Regent at the UP

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Wally Moon, Los Angeles Dodger outfielder, has been elected as a regent of the University of the Pacific at Stockton.

Announcement of Moon's selection to the 36-member board was made Wednesday at the regents' annual meeting.

Coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame agreed in a telephone interview from South Bend, Ind., that, "As Staubach goes, so goes Navy."

He said it has been quite noticeable in films that Staubach hasn't been able to scramble enough to hit his secondary receivers and that this has been the principal difference in Navy's attack this year.

The accuracy of his throwing and the great poise he has

NOTES and NOTIONS

One look at the current list of Rockets' season-opening non-gridiron sticklers convinces this league win over the Ghosts, but forecaster that it's fortunate there's danger in this reasoning this is the last full schedule of since it could act to Kaukauna's the season. Last week, we were psychological benefit and make tossed for a loss eight times, the Ghosts hungry for retribution while "winning" 23 times and 10.

Appleton over Manitowoc — Though the Terrors will step onto the Shipbuilders' field as slight underdogs, they seem to have improved enough to out-score the Ships.

Clintonville over New London — The Truckers don't figure to falter because they still have a chance for a title share.

Menasha over Shawano — The Bluejays will cap their best season in many years with a top-drawer performance.

Kimberly over Two Rivers — The Papermaker defense seems good enough to decide the toss-up in Kimberly's favor.

St. Mary over Pennings — The Squires have already been bounced hard by the Fox Cities' Xavier and St. John, and the Zephyrs appear capable of completing the sweep.

Little Nine Conference — Winneconne over Denmark, Hilbert over Shinton, Wrightstown over Omro, Reedsville over Hortonville.

Central Wis. Conference — Waupaca over Manawa, Weyauwega over Amherst, Marion over Wittenberg, Iowa — Scandinavia over Wautoma.

Other FRVC games — Oshkosh over South, Fond du Lac over Southwest, West over East.

Other MC games — Cornell over Beloit, Coe over Grinnell, Carleton over Knox, Ripon over St. Olaf.

Other games — Chilton over Kohler, Plymouth over Brillion, Bonduel over Octonito, DePere over Seymour, Premontre over Springs, Lourdes over Marinette.

Neenah over Kaukauna — Another bruising contest is in prospect here. With a title at stake it could go either way. The Rockets' and the Ghosts' sterling defensive performances have been exactly the same against the same six foes (less than six points a game). The Rocket offense has been more productive than the Ghosts' but Menasha and Clintonville proved that Neenah can be slowed down. We're perhaps swayed, more than anything else, by the

Montreal and New York Post NHL Victories

Goalies Hodge, Paille Star; Sullivan Fined

BY HAL BOCK
 Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago last June the New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens swapped goalies in a major National Hockey League trade with Gump Worsley moving to Montreal and Jacques Plante coming to New York.

In the rapid-fire world of the NHL, it figures then that although the stars of Wednesday's two games were the Canadian and Ranger goalies, they were not Worsley and Plante.

Gump and Jacques labor these days in the American League, their jobs taken by Charlie Hodge and Marcel Paille. And anybody who saw the Canadiens whip Toronto 5-2 or New York take Boston 3-1 Wednesday night can tell you why.

Wins Trophy

Hodge took over for Worsley after eight games last season when the Gump got hurt and went on to win the league's Vezina Trophy as the top NHL netminder. He was reported in danger of losing the job back to son points, topping Appleton Worsley in training this year Structural Steel and Marathon but has come on strong, allowing Street plant by four point just 11 goals in six games.

 Ranger Coach Red Sullivan, who was fined $50 by NHL President Clarence Campbell before the game for an altercation during last Sunday's game against Chicago, says the job is Paille's as long as he can do it.
 Rookie Claude Larose scored twice as the Canadiens stretched their unbeaten string to six and handed the Leafs their first loss. Larose's first goal came at 16:22 of the second period, just 28 seconds after Ron Ellis had tied it for the Leafs.
 The victory left Montreal tied with Toronto for first place, each team with nine points.

Frazier Won Olympic Title Despite Broken Hand in Final Match

Determined U. S. Representative Says He Couldn't Quit

BY JIM LAMB

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I'd gone all that way. I might make it to Tokyo in a couldn't let one hand pull me back," said Olympic heavy-weight champion Joe Frazier, explaining why he fought the championship bout with a broken left hand.

Frazier, a 6-foot, 186-pound Philadelphia slaughterhouse worker, broke the hand in a semifinal fight at Tokyo, but like a stoic told no one just how bad the injury was.

Frazier, 20, threw numerous left hooks throughout the final fight as he gained a 3-2 decision over Germany's Hans Huber.

"It happened when I hit the Russian in the second round," said Frazier at a local hospital where he is receiving treatment. Frazier knocked out Vladimir Yemelyanov in the second round of their semifinal.

Frazier, the only American to win a gold medal in boxing, almost didn't make it to Tokyo. In 37 amateur bouts, he has lost just twice, both times to Buster Mathis of Grand Rapids, Mich. One of those losses was in the Olympic tryouts.

Pat Duffy, boxing chairman of the Middle Atlantic states of the Amateur Athletic Union, said after the second loss, Frazier was ready to quit trying for an Olympic berth. "I don't ever want to fight again, this is it," Frazier told Duffy.

But Duffy finally persuaded him to keep trying, saying he "I'd gone all that way. I might make it to Tokyo in a lighter weight or if Mathis be-came disabled. On just such an outside chance, Frazier paid for explaining why he fought the his own inoculations and pass-championship bout with a bro-tel, saved up some money to tide his family over, and went to Los Angeles.

Ironically while sparring Frazier there, Mathis jammed a knuckle and was out and Frazier went to Tokyo.

"He's the most determined kid I've ever seen," Duffy said of Frazier.

While training, Frazier, the father of three, arises at 4:30 a.m. for road work through Fairmount Park. Then he works all day at a local abattoir and at dusk goes to a gym to workout.

Frazier said he didn't know how bad his hand was injured at first.

"I couldn't get a grip like I wanted to, so I started to soak it."

"It began to feel a little better and I felt I could make it through one more fight."

"Besides I'd gone all that way. I couldn't let one hand pull me back."

He said he spoke to a team physician, but didn't say just how serious the injury was. He pulled back when the physician suggested X rays. "He didn't know how bad it was," said Frazier.

Frazier said he won't decide for a while whether to become a professional fighter.

It's back to the slaughter-house, he said, as soon as his hand is healed. "Right now it's bothering me a little. It's a little sore," he said.

Walt Biddle Will Compete in Champions' Race

Walt Biddle, of Biddle Motors, Neenah, has won an expense-paid trip to Riverside, Calif., and a chance to compete in the Sports Car Race of Champions Nov. 14.

Biddle competed in nine divisional races and the final tabulations showed him in third place. Each division sends its top three finishers to the Race of Champions. Biddle will race his Austin Healey Sprite in the H Production class.

Detroit Lion Quarterback Milt Plum, left, acquaints Sonny Gibbs with the Lion's playing field at a practice session Wednesday. Gibbs, formerly of TCU, signed to back up Plum, who replaced the injured Earl Morrill. Plum injured his throwing arm in pre-season practice and again against the Baltimore Colts last week. Plum is expected to start against the Los Angeles Rams Sunday. Gibbs was cut earlier by the Dallas Cowboys. (AP Wirephoto)

Unbeaten Junior Terrors Duel Ship '11'

The unbeaten Appleton High School junior varsity team will encounter its toughest opposition on the gridiron Saturday morning when the Manitowoc Ship JV contingent invades the Madison Junior High field.

The Junior Terrors are 6-0 on the season. Manitowoc has compiled a 5-1 league log. The lone Shipbuilder loss came at the hands of Green Bay East, 20-13. The Junior Ships have blanked four FRVC opponents and one non-conference foe, Two Rivers.

Tom Reitzner has been the defensive standout for the AHS contingent at his tackle post. Offensive standouts have included Jeff Bruch, Gary Vivoda, Kent Johnson, Tim Frye, Don Dafee and Steve Eggert.

Appleton scored a 25-6 victory over East's Red Devils, the lone victor over the Junior Ships to date.

More Than 1,000 Tickets Sold for Bobcat-Soviet Tilt

GREEN BAY—More than 1,000 reserved seats—one-third of the permanent seating capacity—already have been sold for the Green Bay Bobcats' game with Russia's Olympic champion hockey team at the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena Dec. 19. Bobcat General Manager John Biolo announced today.

Less than 100 tickets in the top price $5 range remain for the contest, which will find the Russians making their first Wisconsin appearance in history. Other prices are $4 and $3 with general admission set at $2.

The early rush included an order for six tickets from a Chicago group, according to the Bobcat GM, who said requests have come from throughout the Fox River Valley and northeastern Wisconsin. Orders should be addressed to Green Bay Bobcats, Box 2164, Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena, Green Bay.

an unintentional one, in the weirdo of the season in skinning past the 49ers That would be Viking Jim Marshall's wrong-way run for a San Francisco safety with a fumble by John Brodie.

Wally Cruice, the Packer scout who saw the game, said "the funniest thing about it was the way everybody reacted. Everybody in the park knew he was going the wrong way except Marshall. They were roaring in the stands and the other Vikings were yelling at him but Marshall thought they were cheering him on."

Over End Line

Where was the big break? "When Marshall did get into the end zone he threw the ball in the air and it went over the end line. It could very well have been caught and downed in the end zone for a 49er touchdown."

That would have produced a 27-27 tie score.

This Was the Second "Wrong"

The Vikings capitalized on. Actually, Smith was the wrong receiver in that key pass against the Packers. It was intended for Tom Hall but Smith broke in front of him and caught it.

20 Fencers Seek Positions on Trotter Squad

University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center fencing coach Russ Johnson is paring down his list of 20 candidates, including nine returnees, for this year's traveling squad of nine men.

Johnson said the team is finished with its basic drills, starting gym work and is in the process of selecting the main team and fencer's weapons.

The Trotter squad will compete in all three divisions — foil, sabre and epee — this year.

Johnson said tentative matches are slated with Milwaukee Institute of Technology, Shorewood Fencing Club, and the Wausau, Racine and Kenosha UW centers. The main meet of the year, according to Johnson, will be a spring match with the University of Wisconsin freshman squad.

Difference of $3,312.90 in Series Shares

Winning Cardinals Each Get $8,622; $5,309 for Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — The difference between winning and losing the World Series was $3,312.90. That was the spread between each St. Louis Cardinal winning share of $8,622.19 and each full New York Yankee losing share of $5,309.29.

The official shares, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Ford Frick, has few surprises. As had been reported previously, Mel Stottlemyre, Yankee rookie pitcher, got a full share, and Pete Ramos, acquired from Cleveland in early September, drew one-half share of $2,654.65.

The fact that Harry Bright, reserve infielder who was sent to Richmond in mid-May, also got $2,654.65 was interesting.

The Cardinals voted three-fourths of a share to Barney Schultz, the 36-year-old knuckle ball pitcher who helped them so much down the stretch in the National League race. Schultz got $6,466.64.

Replace Javier

So did Dal Maxvill, the utility infielder who played second base all during the Series in place of the injured Julian Javier.

The winning and losing shares were far short of the records set last year when the Los Angeles Dodgers got $12,794 each for winning and the Yanks drew $7,874.32 in spite of their four straight defeats.

The difference between the size of the Dodger park and the 30,000 plus capacity of Busch Stadium in St. Louis made the difference in money.

For the first time the fifth-place teams participated in the player pool. Commissioner Frick estimated this cut about $100 off the shares of the Cards and Yanks.

Fifth place was worth $218.81 for each full share with the Milwaukee Braves and $195.62 for each Los Angeles Angel.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati tied for second in the National so they split second and third money. Because of a different voting on shares, each Red got $1,254.76 and each Phil $1,165.63.

The Chicago White Sox received $1,466.01 for finishing second in the American League and Baltimore drew $971.85 for coming in third. San Francisco's fourth place slice was $467.57 and Detroit's fourth place $509.69.

These Pens and Your Congressman Wrote History

Five pens used to sign five historic bills* have been presented by the President of the United States to Rep. John W. Byrnes in the last three years.

The honor of receiving a presidential pen comes only to a few — the few who rightfully share the credit for the writing and passage of truly significant legislation.

To earn this honor five times in three years is an extraordinary record — unequalled by any other Wisconsin congressman or senator in either party.

It is dramatic proof of John Byrnes' effectiveness as a national lawmaker.

This legislative record could not have been achieved by an ordinary congressman or a part-time congressman. It could only have been compiled by an extraordinary congressman staying on the job to get things done for all of us.

You owe it to yourself to give that congressman John Byrnes, your most careful consideration when you vote on election day.

(*President John F. Kennedy used the first pen to sign the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1961, the second to sign the Social Security Amendments Act of 1961, the third to sign the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 and the fourth to sign the Maternal and Child Health and Mental Retardation Act of 1963. President Lyndon B. Johnson used the fifth pen to sign the tax cut, the Revenue Act of 1964.)

Indonesian Forces Attack Malaysia; Threat Not Serious

About Half of Force Reported Captured, Others Pinned Down

MALACCA, Malaysia (AP) — the others were pinned down in about 60 Indonesian guerrillas, swampy jungles 30 miles south of Malacca, landed here by a force of Australian, New Zealand and Malaysian troops.

The spokesman said a holding action would be carried out through the night, and mopping up operations will be launched at daybreak.

The spokesman reported 25 prisoners taken during initial encounters with police and soldiers along the Kesang River, near the border of Malacca and Johore states. He said not a shot was fired.

The spokesman said the raiders were tracked down, called upon to surrender and came out of the bush with their hands in the air.

Twenty of the prisoners were described as members of a specially trained Indonesian commando unit.

Southwest Coast Prime Minister Abdul Rahman announced five boatloads of guerrillas landed before dawn on the southwest coast between Malacca and Muar.

Home Minister Ismail Bin Abdul Rahman, Malaysia's top internal security official, made a flying tour of the Malacca-Muar area and told newsmen that Malaysian forces had the situation well in hand.

"We have encountered a large number of the invaders," he said, "and the battle between them and security forces is in progress. We have every reason to be successful."

Third Invasion It was the third reported invasion of the Malaysian mainland by forces from Indonesia, whose President Sukarno has vowed to crush the British-backed Malay-

Sudan Army and Civilian Leaders Are Cooperating

CAIRO (AP) — A broadcast from the Sudan said today that the Sudanese armed forces and the leading civilian political group had agreed on steps to restore peace to the Nile country.

"Formation of a new transitional government will be announced in due course," the broadcast said. Sudanese sources here said this could mean President Ibrahim Abduloud was out.

The broadcast, from Omdurman, a Nile River community adjoining Khartoum, the capital, said representatives of the armed forces and the national front had agreed to end the present constitutional system.

Sukarno Future Pondered

British Troops Side With Malaysians

LONDON (AP) — The Defense Ministry said British troops today joined a combined Commonwealth operation to help Commonwealth forces in the Malaysia against Indonesian forces, which made an amphibious landing.

Elements of a British battalion within the Commonwealth brigade were operating along the border between Malaysia and Indonesia.

There was no official British governmental comment on the Indonesian thrust, the third in 10 weeks, but officials said they expect the Malaysian government — after consultations with other interested Commonwealth countries — will decide soon whether to refer the incident to the U.N. Security Council.

Urgent Reappraisal The British informants also said an urgent reappraisal now is under way among Commonwealth countries to determine just how that country's resistance to Indonesia can be stiffened.

Specifically, the military authorities of Malaysia, Britain and the new Indonesian government are likely to have to undergo a serious operation shortly. Without saying precisely what is wrong with the Indonesian leader, they said they hear he has not fully recovered from an operation he underwent in Vienna, Austria recently.

In addition, these informants cited what they said were indications pointing to the possibility of Sukarno's replacement.

Foreign Minister Subandrio this week was quoted as saying publicly that Sukarno wasn't likely always to be in charge.

Growing internal discontent was reported over the economic effects of Indonesia's confrontation policy with Malaysia. — There are developing pressures within the Indonesian government for resolute action to check the mounting influence of Indonesia's Communist party, and a showdown may be coming.

Barry Tells Oshkosh Crowd, 'I'm Going to Beat Johnson'

A Crowd, Estimated at between 5,000 and 7,000, shouted their greetings and chanted "We Want Barry" Wednesday afternoon after Republican presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater arrived by jet plane at the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh. Goldwater (arrow) spoke to the throngs at the airport from a truck platform. The crowd stretched from the airport apron, at the left, to W. 20th Avenue, at the far right. (Other pictures on pages B-1 and D-10. (Post-Crescent Photo)

35,000 Follow Motorcade; Goldwater Says Democrats Should Repudiate Reds

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, made a flat prediction here Wednesday afternoon. "I'm going to beat President Johnson," he said.

During a speech to a crowd estimated at more than 5,000, Goldwater also asked Democrats to repudiate Communist Party support and advised clergymen to leave politics to politicians.

An overflow crowd filled the 1,700-seat Oshkosh Civic Auditorium, and throngs of others heard the senator's speech being piped into the adjacent gymnasium and stood outside the building.

The conservative Arizonan received cheering, enthusiastic greetings from an estimated 35,000 people at the Winnebago County Airport, where his plane landed, along a motorcade route and at the high school.

Cites '48 Election

He drew a comparison with the 1948 presidential election to justify his optimism for next Tuesday's election.

"At this time in 1948," Goldwater told the cheering crowd, "it all of a sudden occurred to me that Truman was going to beat Dewey. Well, all of a sudden it has occurred to me that I'm going to beat Johnson next Tuesday."

Holding up a copy of "The Worker" (formerly "The Daily Worker"), the official Communist Party publication in the United States, Goldwater said, "I've been attacked by extremists for not condemning extremism."

Pointing to a banner headline on the paper's front page, Goldwater said, "The Daily Worker says 'Smash Goldwaterism.' I've never heard of any Democrat who says he doesn't want the Communist Party winning."

Roaring Cheer "I'm not calling any Democrat a communist," he said, "but I'm getting sick of them not repudiating the communists."

Showing a copy of "The Worker," a communist paper, to the crowd, Goldwater noted it called for his smashing defeat as a communist.

Ford Motors Threatened With Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. was threatened today with a crippling strike, just as General Motors Corp. got its fifth assembly plant going again after a 31-day nationwide walk-out by the United Auto Workers Union.

The UAW set a strike deadline Wednesday of 10 a.m. Nov. 6 for its bargaining units at Ford's which lack at-the-plant working agreements to supplement the newly negotiated Ford-UAW national contract.

Ford figures that 23 of its 90 UAW bargaining units lack such agreements. Strikes by them would involve, among others, nine Ford assembly plants and three key stamping plants.

General Motors still is hobbled by similar local-level stoppages.

The UAW called off a national strike against GM last Sunday, but authorized units without at-the-plant agreements to remain out until local issues are resolved.

Johnson Gets Pledge From Soviet Leader

Premier Kosygin Says Russia Will Search for Peace

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — President Johnson said today he has received a heartening pledge from the new Soviet premier that the Soviet Union will "maintain its own search for peace with the West."

In a speech, prepared for delivery in the historic Mormon Tabernacle, Johnson said the United States "must work to guide the inevitable changes that lie ahead" in Communist countries.

Johnson made an overnight stop in Salt Lake City in order to breakfast with David O. McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) and to speak in the church's tabernacle.

West Campaign

After two days of campaigning in the West, the President was pointing his vote-seeking efforts eastward, with other appearances planned today in Wichita, Kan., and Philadelphia.

In his tabernacle text, Johnson said that when Nikita Khrushchev was toppled as Soviet premier, "I sent word to Moscow that our basic policy remained unchanged."

He reported that the new premier, Alexei Kosygin, has replied that "the Soviet Union would maintain its present policies and seek better relations — and maintain its own search for peace — with the West."

Johnson said Kosygin wrote that "the Soviet Union would continue its communications."

Federal Agents Seek 2 Men in Krebiozen Case

CHICAGO (AP) — While federal agents today sought two men reportedly indicted by a federal grand jury investigating Krebiozen, daily users of the controversial cancer drug expressed alarm that their supplies might be cut off.

Names of the indicted men have been withheld until they are in custody, and Judge William J. Campbell of U.S. District Court has set their bonds at $500,000 each. The nature of the charges also has been withheld.

An attorney for the Krebiozen Research Foundation, however, said there is little question but that the indictments are against the substance, and Dr. Du-

It's a Big Year for Retail Commerce

Firms Report Record High Levels of Sales Being Made

BY JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — This is an extraordinarily good year for retail trade.

That's the report from J. Gordon Dakins, executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, which has a membership of 14,750 department and retail stores across the country.

Total retail sales held up well despite the inroads of the General Motors strike which saw new car sales fall 23 per cent in the middle 10 days of October. Dakins estimated that 1964 retail sales would amount to more than $260 billion up from $246.4 billion last year.

Department Stores

For department stores alone, he figures that the 1964 gross sales would approximate $17.9 billion, up 7 per cent from $16.8 billion in 1963.

The association is engaged in its annual survey of Christmas season prospects, and Dakins said, "We feel Christmas sales should be up 5 per cent over 1963, which was outstanding."

Merchants report that their cash registers are ringing up higher profits this year. This, they say, is due to the fact that volume has increased, people are buying more expensive goods and the average sales check has grown.

High Efficiency

In addition, many merchants have increased their efficiency in operations and are able to carry smaller inventories through use of computers which enable them to keep a closer check of stocks on hand.

A look at figures released by large retail chains indicates the scope of the business expansion. These include Sears, Roebuck & Co., the nation's largest with 770, stores and 1,092 catalogue sales offices. Montgomery Ward & Co., and J. C. Penney Co. Sears' sales rose 12.5 per cent in September to $509,330,183 from $452,553,814 a year earlier. For the first eight months of the fiscal year which began Feb. 1 the firm's sales totaled $3,817,949,478, an increase of $416,556,585, or 12.3 per cent over the like period of 1963.

Ward Sales

Montgomery Ward reported September sales as $125,574,000, a net gain of 10.1 per cent over $114,063,163 a year earlier. The firm's eight-month total of $1,052,685,000 represented an increase of 13.3 per cent over $929,258,828 last year.

Penney said sales in September climbed 15.2 per cent to $169,095,981 from $146,850,262 in September 1963, while the total for the eight months ended Sept. 30 amounted to $1,213,722,943, up 13.4 per cent over $1,070,265,737 in the same period a year earlier.

Calumet Spending to Top $1 Million in 1965

County Supervisors Okay Record Budget Which Has Slight Rate Decrease

CHILTON—A record budget sized valuation of $111,806,400 of $1,018,446, carrying a modest 1965 taxes will be $121.10 tax rate cut, was adopted Wednesday by the Calumet County board.

In going over the proposed budget, the board trimmed $4,114 from the proposed expenditures.

Although the levy increased $39,029 from $453,582 last year to $492,611 this year, an increase of more than $10 million in the value of taxable property more than offset the tax levy increase.

To produce the levy, a rate of $4.05 per $1,000 of equalized valuation will be needed, compared with $4.06 for the current year's spending.

Budget requests this year totaled $752,496, or $265,950 less than this year. Making up for the big increase was inclusion of total expenditures for charities and corrections, which this year total $422,659, up $217,956 from 1964.

Federal and state aids also were included in the budget to give a clear picture of expenditures in the department, not just those which are the responsibility of the county. This year the county's share of the welfare department budget totals just over $59,000.

Based on Value This year's levy of $453,847 was assessed against an equal-

Income Tax Jump Other major reasons for the increased revenues included an anticipated jump in income taxes to $50,000 this year. County ordinance fines are expected to be at an all-time high of $4,500, $500 over last year.

Chief's Resignation Ends Brillion Police Force Investigation

Donald Nielsen Turns in His Badge at City Council Session

BRILLION—Police Chief Donald Nielsen turned in his resignation, effective immediately, Wednesday and with his surprise move apparently ended into police activities here, and called a special meeting of the council Wednesday night to discuss police conditions.

Nielsen left the city and reportedly went to his home in Pacwaukee today. He could not be reached for comment.

Nielsen turned in his resignation to the mayor late Wednesday afternoon, and, at the mayor's request, officially presented it before the council at a special meeting called Wednesday night.

Mayor Wolf read the resignation to the council, which unanimously voted to accept it. Nielsen made no statement at the council meeting.

Wolf issued a proclamation Oct. 20 banning intoxicants in the police station, citing police summonses allegedly missing Nielsen's auto. He said he would start a "full-scale investigation" into police activities here, and called a special meeting of the council Wednesday night to discuss police conditions.

The mayor refused to elaborate on the incidents that provoked the proclamation and investigation. He said at Wednesday's council meeting, "The letter of resignation should be sufficient. I have no more to add. I am looking for a new approach and fresh start relative to police operation in the city."

Wolf said today he and the police committee will begin screening applicants to fill the chief's position "almost immediately." In the interim, relief policeman Francis Polifka and the Calumet County Sheriff's Department will fill the void. Wolf said.

'Fresh Start'

Wolf said the "new approach" and "fresh start" in police operation probably would include changes in methods of assigning work to the police department, closer auditing of police books by himself and the police committee and more thorough interviews and checks on future police applicants.

The 1965 city budget includes a full-time policeman in addition to the chief. If the budget is passed, the mayor said, applicants for the chief's job also will be kept in mind for the policeman's job.

While refusing to comment further on incidents provoking his investigation, Wolf said, "The summons books in question will not be discarded, but they won't be activated either, unless necessary."

Scandinavia Dwelling Damaged by Fire

SCANDINAVIA — A fire at the Walter Thorn residence here caused extensive damages to a porch and furniture Monday afternoon.

The blaze, which started from a cigarette falling into a davenport, was brought under control by the Scandinavia Fire Department before it could spread to the main portion of the house.

The Republican Motorcade traveling through Oshkosh Wednesday afternoon made a special stop at Lourdes Catholic High School so that two ham radio operators could discuss their hobby. Meets Brother John

Goldwater Motorcade Stops So Barry Can Chat With Fellow 'Ham'

BY DICK LYNEIS Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Officials who planned the route for Sen. Barry Goldwater's motorcade through this city Wednesday afternoon had good reason to see that it passed Lourdes High School.

When it stopped, the senator, his wife Peggy, and an entourage of about 200 Goldwater staff members and newsmen got off their motorcade vehicles for a greeting from nearly 4,000 Lourdes faculty members, students and onlookers.

The reason for the stop? Sen. Goldwater and Brother John, principal of the Christian Brothers' high school, had something in common they wanted to discuss — ham radios.

Ham Radio Talk

Their conversation, in part, went something like this: Sen. Goldwater — "I've had difficulty making radio contacts in this area. I have a two-meter set up. Do you?"

Brother John — "Yes, I have two meters, too."

Sen. Goldwater — "The trouble I run into is having a lot of skin noise when I get to 0.8."

Brother John — "That's a pretty common problem."

The principal said he had never been in contact with the senator on his ham radio. But Goldwater said they may make radio contact in the future.

Brother John explained the school welcomed Goldwater "as a civic gesture. We feel privileged that he stopped here. We would do the same for the Democrats, but they haven't seen fit to pay us a visit."

ber explained that the Republican national committee is flying the senator around the country for nothing.

Asked to elaborate, he said, "In 1960, it cost the party $700,000 to fly presidential candidate Richard Nixon around the country along with an entourage of newsmen."

He added, "It's different this year. We charge the newsmen a fare to fly along on the 'Via Bi Kin' (Goldwater's chartered American Airlines Boeing 727 jet). They have the back 60 seats on the plane and their fares pay Sen. Goldwater's way."

The name of Goldwater's chartered plane, "Via Bi Kin," is Navajo Indian and it means "Home in the Sky."

Planes Squeeze In

When Talbot Peterson, Appleton, Wisconsin Republican chairman, made arrangements for Goldwater's visit to Oshkosh a few weeks back, he was told a minimum of 6,000 feet of runway was necessary, to land Goldwater's 727 jet and the accompanying United Airlines chartered 727 jet for newsmen.

Peterson said the Oshkosh airport's runways were only 5,000 feet long. "We'll squeeze it in," Peterson was told. The two planes did and with no difficulty.

One problem that has confronted Goldwater at several campaign appearances throughout the country was almost absent in Oshkosh Tuesday. There were only two hecklers at the Winnebago County Airport among a crowd of about 5,000. The shouts of one of the hecklers, a bearded youth, were drowned by cheers and he gave up.

The only form of opposition was a number of "We Want Lyndon" and "LBJ" signs. There was one "LBJ" sign among the airport onlookers and about 20 along the motorcade route. The ratio of pro-Goldwater signs to Johnson signs was about 100 to 1.

However, the biggest sign was a huge sheet, about 30 by 30 feet, on Knapp Street on the way to the Civic Auditorium. It was on a house and it extended from the top of porch roof to the ground. It said "LBJ."

Visiting Newsmen

The crew of about 200 visiting newsmen from television networks, stations and newspapers impressed the local citizenry, but in numbers only.

Several hostile remarks were shouted at the press corps from fanatical Goldwater supporters. One remark aimed at a reporter was—"We'll never recognize his (Goldwater's) speech after you guys get through butchering it."

Goldwater's claims of a hostile press may have some justification, however, because most of press corps traveling along with him had nothing good to say about the senator. If he had supporters among the traveling press, they were silent supporters.

One foreign newsmen was impressed by the estimated crowd of about 25,000 which lined the motorcade route. "All we saw in Cleveland the other day," he said, "was pigeons."

Clintonville Nun Attends Diocesan Teacher Training

CLINTONVILLE — Sister St. Thomas, principal and eighth grade teacher at St. Rose Catholic School, was among members of the Green Bay Diocesan Guidance Council for Elementary and Secondary Teachers who attended a fall workshop Saturday in Green Bay.

"Mental Health," was discussed by James Cowan, head psychologist of the Appleton Public schools. Cowan discussed the need for teachers to recognize emotional differences of children. For a long time, he said, educators have been aware of intellectual and physical differences, but have failed to take note of the variance that exists in the emotional life of children.

Sister Ruth Ann, clinical and licensed child psychologist from county line road Holy Family College, Manitowish, led a discussion after Cowan's address.

State Board of Health Report Says Treatment System Is Overloaded

NEW LONDON—The city is continuing its study of expansion of the sewage treatment plant, citing a report from the State Board of Health saying the current system is overloaded.

The state report resulted from a Wolf River area cities meeting in Clintonville recently. The report said the plant is 30 per cent of the project. The group decided at least two more study meetings will have to be conducted before definite plans to improve its plant can be decided. Jones suggested the city make a study to determine if the plant's needs and then State Board of Health saving draw plans so federal aid applications can be made.

Jones said if the city can obtain federal aid to help finance expansion of the plant, it should board's report said the plant is 30 per cent of the project. He receiving more waste than it is said work probably would not be designed for. Previously, the health board had said the Borden Co. plant here was polluting the river to some extent.

Tuesday the city council met with Ray Pelishek, public works director; Al Schaefer, treatment plant superintendent; Art Gesse, plant superintendent; Robert Jones of Donahue and Associates, Sheboygan, city engineer; and Ervin Stern and Al State Board of Health to test samples. The Borden Co. will test samples, and an independent test also will be taken to triple check findings.

night will try to clinch a clear title as well as first unbeaten season since 1957.

The powerful Comets, rated second in the state among small-school teams, invade Manawa for their season's finale. Manawa's Wolves are capable of causing plenty of trouble, as their 3-2-1 league record indicates.

Should Manawa spring a big upset, Weyauwega will have a chance to share in the title. The Indians will play host to last-place Amherst and will be heavily favored.

Other games on the final weekend's schedule are Friday's Marion-Wittenberg clash and Saturday's Wautoma-LaScandia meeting.

During the last decade, Waupaca has won clear titles in '55, '58, '59, '60 and '63—and the Comets shared honors with Bonduel in '58.

The 64 Comets have won six straight CWC games as well as a non-loop decision over Stevens Point.

Seymour and Bonduel High Schools conclude their North-eastern Wisconsin Conference football schedules Friday night.

Last-place Seymour plays host to first-place De Pere, while Bonduel entertains Oconto.

Seymour, which has lost seven straight league games this season after tying Marion, 0-0, in its non-conference opener, races a rugged foe, De Pere, 3-0-1, with only a small lead over runnerup Pulaski (6-1).

Needs a win to clinch the championship.

Bonduel, rounding out its first year in the conference, can clinch at least a tie for fourth place with a victory over ninth-place Oconto. The Bears currently share fourth place with Oconto Falls.

Fremont Considers Sewerage System

Village Voters Authorize Basic Engineering Survey to Learn Costs

FREMONT — A preliminary survey for installation of public water and sewer facilities was authorized at a special Village Board meeting here. Bruce Stevens, engineer for the State Board of Health, was speaker.

The preliminary survey, costing about $1200, was approved by a 70-31 margin.

From the survey, approximate costs of the project can be determined and presented to the residents. A future referendum vote will be the deciding factor.

Includes Planning

The survey for water and sewer will include planning for almost 100 per cent pumping by lifts, because of the topography and river crossing, and construction of the primary system large enough to form a sanitary district.

Stevens stated, however, that the secondary process of oxidation treating may be necessary since the Conservation Department opposes the discharge of treated wastes into streams.

Views opposing municipal sewerage held that the village is free of disease and the new primary system would be similar to systems which most individuals have. The majority would, therefore, pay for the minority who could install their own systems, opponents claimed.

Stevens said that it could not be specifically determined how installing a minimum treatment system would affect the river.

Calumet Sets Record High 1965 Budget

$4,000 anticipated last year to a high of $10,600 this year. An increase of $6,600.

Other increases were estimated in Calumet Homestead revenue, the county operated home for the aged in New Holstein, of $12,000 from $85,000 last year to $97,000 this year. Income from county trunk systems is expected to reach $113,100, up $4,300 from the $108,800 received last year.

A $1,000 rise in interest on general fund investments from $4,000 to $5,000.

New Items

New items on the revenues are welfare administration, $20,969; blind aid, $1,615; aid to dependent children, $42,700; old age assistance, $103,750, and aid to totally and permanently disabled, $26,600 for a total of $195,634.

The lone decrease in revenues is the state aid for county nurses. Since Calumet County no longer has a nurse after the resignation of Mrs. Lois Wilcox in August, the county is ineligible to collect the aid.

Marked expenditure increases are noted in charities and correction because of the inclusion of federal and state aids as well as county monies used for the classification. Last year a total of $204,703 was allocated compared to an expected $222,659 this year.

County Highways

Noted increases were in welfare administration from $16,927 to $36,153; old age assistance from $17,000 to $125,000; aid to disabled, $11,000 to $35,000; aid to blind from $250 to $1,865, and aid to dependent children from $9,000 to $52,000, for a total increase of $196,741.

Total expense of county highways is estimated at $221,027 for the coming year. This is $10,115 more than the $210,912 allotted last year. Administration expense remains the same at $15,000. County trunk maintenance is down $3,000 from $55,000 to $52,000 this year. State county trunk allotment is $113,100, compared to $108,800 last year, an increase of $4,300. Snow removal costs are the same at $20,000 and county aid to bridges, which is tacked to the highway budget, is $20,927, up $8,815 from last year when it was $12,112.

General government costs show a rise of $13,240 from $120,131 requested last year to $133,371 this year. With the purchase of new equipment in the county treasurer's office a total of $19,444 is asked for assessment of taxes and adding machine operation. This is an increase of $11,766 from the $7,700 allocated in 1964.

Protection Costs

Allocations for protection of persons and property were $36,340, an increase of $4,095 over last year when $82,245 was asked.

A decrease of $738 was noted in the health classification. Last year $16,012 was levied for this department by only $15,274 was asked this year. The drop is accounted for in a decrease of $653 for patients at other county sanatoria.

With an increase of $16,475 for education of retarded children, education and recreation rose to $98,874 for the upcoming year from $86,841 for the current year. This is an increase of $12,033. A total of $25,000 was asked for retarded children this year.

Park Allocation Cut

At the request of the park committee the allocation for the county park, which totaled $24,366, was lowered to $18,274. An overlay of about $5,000 was given as the reason.

Conservation and development increased only $250 from $1,350 last year to $1,600 this year.

A $2,800 addition to the other expense for the survey proposed by the Fox River Planning Commission brought the anticipated total to $39,300 from $30,300 last year, an increase of $9,000.

Calumet Board Gives Approval To Seek Brochure Printing Costs

Purpose of Pamphlet Is to Promote County's Industry, Recreation, Agricultural Facilities

CHILTON — Authorization to seek printing estimates on the new Calumet County promotional brochure was granted by county supervisors Tuesday.

Supv. Alfred Burich, Brillion city industrial committee chairman, said material was almost complete. The brochure will include eight pictures characteristic of the county. Also contained will be information on recreation, industrial development, agriculture and "whole-some living" available in the county.

He also showed board members examples of county advertising brochures.

Name Working Bank

The Chilton Commercial Bank was designated by the board as the working bank for the coming year.

County treasurer Merlin Zahn said the board that switching from bank to bank each year poses a problem. Banks, he said, in order to identify checks under the new computer system, must have identifying magnetic codes stamped on them.

Each bank, he explained, has an individual code. New checks must be printed for each bank used as the working bank resulting in printing costs.

Finance committee members and Zahn will meet with county bankers in an attempt to lengthen the time each bank serves as the working bank.

Other Action

In other action the board passed resolutions: —Approving a $59,034 tax levy for the Welfare Department.

—Appointed Mrs. John Landgraf Jr., Chilton, to serve another three-year term as trustee of the Homestead Home for the Aged.

—Approved a $25 yearly expenditure for Court House Christmas decorations.

—Granted purchasing power to the highway committee for construction and maintenance equipment not costing more than $3,000.

—Authorized a tax levy on the townships to participate in the construction of 34 bridges and culverts in seven townships. The county's share of this will be $20,927.

Deny Request

A letter to the board from the Calumet County Ambulance Service, Chilton, requesting $5,000 annually was denied. Supv. Oscar Kossman, Chilton Township, said once the county started subsidizing one ambulance, they would be required to extend it to all. Ambulances are

School Dropouts Not Serious but Will be Studied at Clintonville

Guidance Counselors Tell Teachers Early Recognition of Symptoms Can Help

CLINTONVILLE — The problem of high school drop-outs known to the agency, which was discussed by guidance department representatives at a meeting of Clintonville Joint Schools District No. 1 school Tuesday.

The counselors said drop-outs have not been a serious problem in Clintonville schools. Since 1960 there have been 89 drop-outs, while other areas have drop-out rates as high as 24 per cent.

Emphasis was given to detectable symptoms of potential drop-outs. Teachers are being given instruction in early recognition of these symptoms so remedial action can be taken by guidance counselors.

Education Agency

Also at the meeting school Director Harland Kirchner and Supt. K. O. Rawson, who were in Appleton last week for a conference on the Cooperative Education Service Agency, reported on the new system which will replace county school supervisors.

With this plan the state is divided into 19 districts, each headed by a coordinator chosen by present school board members in each district.

All special services within a district are then provided through the coordinators office. Services of such specialists as speech therapists, guidance counselors, and an unlimited number of other possibilities may be desired by individual schools within a district, but are too costly for them to purchase auwega, Fremont, Bloomfield, Wolf River and Winneconne.

The agency system goes into effect June 1.

Regional Conference

Rawson and high school Principal Burr Tolles reported on the Region Six Conference of the Associated Public School Systems which met in Duluth, Minn., Oct. 25, 26 and 27.

Mrs. Robert Billings, librarian, and Miss Joan Paulson, chairman of the English department, reported to the conference on the Honors Reading program being carried on in high school.

They returned to Clintonville Tuesday in time to attend the school board meeting. The conference was a regional meeting 8 along with Appleton, Bear Creek, Freedom, Hortonville, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute, Manawa, Neenah, Menasha, New London, Omro, Oshkosh, Shiocton, Royalton, Wey-

Library Seeks Restoration of Cooling Funds

Air Conditioning, Deleted From Budget, Backed in Petition

A plea to restore budget funds for air conditioning the Appleton Public Library will be sent to Mayor Clarence Mitchell and Appleton aldermen by the library board of trustees.

The city council's finance committee cut $13,600 for the air conditioning from the library budget during budget hearings last week.

The library board decided Tuesday to reiterate its arguments for air conditioning in letters to the mayor and aldermen from Mrs. John Stevens, board president.

About 350 library patrons signed a petition at the circulation desk this fall requesting installation of air conditioning according to Chief Librarian Gordon Bebeau. The finance committee also received a similar petition circulated by the Junior Women's Club.

Windows Closed

When the library was remodeled 10 years ago, the library board and city council intended that air conditioning be provided, but it was not done at that time for budgetary reasons. Bebeau said. When the climate changer was installed in the library attic, it was thought that air conditioning could be attached to it, but this was not practical because of the weight of the equipment, he said.

Because air conditioning was part of the original remodeling plan, all the windows in the library were closed, which makes the ventilation problem more difficult, Bebeau said.

It would be possible to install air conditioning in phases over a two-year period, Bebeau said. If this were done, only 60 per cent, or about $8,000 of the total cost would be needed in the 1965 budget, he said.

The library board also had requested funds for air conditioning in its 1964 budget but the item was cut by the council.

Hanky-Panky at Madison

If there is any phase of the state government that should be managed without the pressures and tensions of partisan politics, it is the administration of the big and costly state institution building program: most of it involving high interest bonded debt that will burden descendants yet unborn.

But like other vital phases of the state government, that program has become embroiled during the present political campaign in the bitter jealousies and selfish rivalries of the two political parties which have held the state's policy making in a stalemate for the last six years.

The most recent explosion at the state building commission was repellent to all earnest citizens and voters of Wisconsin, and divided the parties equally. Republican members of the commission turned up with a proposal to transfer the State Bureau of Engineering to the commission from the State Department of Administration. Under normal circumstances this would have been a matter for calm and deliberate discussion and review. In the fevered atmosphere that now prevails at the statehouse, it was promptly distorted into campaign fuel through the transparent designs of both parties involved.

The Republicans disclosed an unfortunately low estimate of the intelligence of the voters when they released their proposal on the eve of an election, after having given their candidate for governor an advance copy which allowed him to put out a press release endorsing it before Gov. Reynolds, commission chairman, could react to it officially.

But the governor also showed something less than a dignified regard for his position when he didn't bother to attend the meeting of the commission which under the law he heads, but instead fired a telegraphic denunciation from his campaign trail that was obviously directed to the voters.

One wonders how any enterprise could possibly succeed, or even avoid damaging demoralization in the ranks, under such violently quarrelsome differences among the officers in charge. We suspect that there are many voters in this state who are not especially wedded to any party cause who are devoutly hoping that the electorate next Tuesday will manage to put governing power at Madison into the hands of one party or the other, so that it can be held accountable for its acts.

Rumbles in Eastern Europe

After the Hungarian revolt was brutally put down by the Russian Army, many observers claimed that this could have been the major chance for the free nations to wrest away a territory from Communist control. Had the United Nations intervened or Western military aid been sent to the Hungarian Freedom Fighters, the Russians might never have moved back into Budapest.

With the recent switch in the masters in the Kremlin, the free world may once again be put on the spot.

The new rulers of the Soviet Union have moved hastily to try to avoid any breaks with Communist regimes in the satellite nations and Communist parties in other European countries. Their theme right now is business as usual. But a major reason behind the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev must have been the growing independence of national Communist parties from the Big Brothers in the Kremlin.

Both the new party secretary, Leonid Brezhnev, and the new premier, Alexei Kosygin, met with Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka early this week. The official announcement by the Tass news agency said the meeting was in "an atmosphere of friendship, cordiality and complete identity of views." French, Austrian and Italian Communist party leaders are also in Moscow to try to get an inside picture of why Khrushchev is out and what the change is going to mean. There are reports that the Czechs are very worried. And the leaders of satellite countries like East Germany, Hungary and particularly Romania who have been asserting increasing independence from Moscow, are bound to be concerned.

Mr. Gronouski Please Note

It is unlikely that Postmaster General John Gronouski, who is by a considerable distance the busiest of the stumping politicians in President Johnson's cabinet, had time to notice the comments of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission the other day about the unreliable quality of performance of his huge federal department.

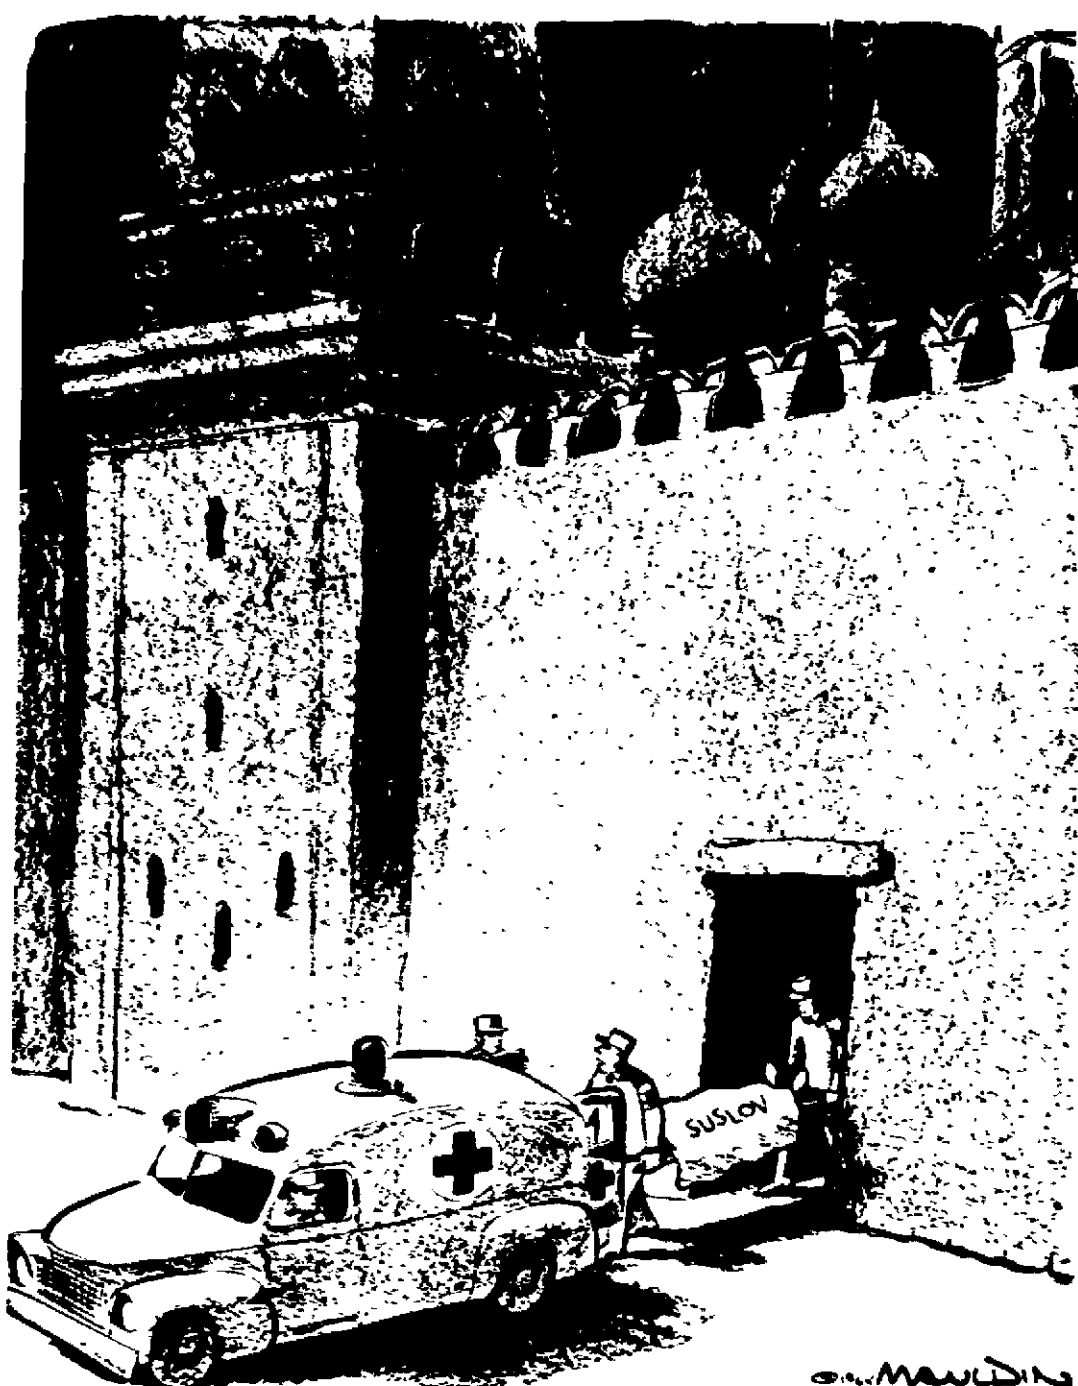

The Wisconsin commission as it approved a franchise for a state-wide parcel delivery service proposed by a private organization cited complaints it had received from businessmen and particularly manufacturers of this state about the poor parcel post service of the United States government. Because of postal delays, inconvenience and costs, the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association testified, its members are eager supporters of the inauguration of a new and competitive service under private management.

As we read the state commission order and the representation of the private applicant what it has held itself out to do may be excessively ambitious. Time and performance will provide the test.

What should be mortifying to the Wisconsin-reared chief of the U. S. Post Office system, however, is this evidence of the cumulative complaints of his customers

Others doubtless can substantiate the irritated testimony on the state commission record. We can. It is now quite impracticable to rely upon the postal system to deliver overnight a package posted in a Fox River Valley community, for example, and addressed to the state capitol which is a bare two hours distant by modern highway.

It may be supposed that the entrepreneurs in this field and those about to enter it will assess somewhat higher charges for their services. But to the customer whose primary interest is in reliable and punctual service the most economical price is the one that gives him what he wants to buy. We are aware that the Post Office Department's troubles are related to the obduracy of the Congress, to some degree, including the forced provision of multi-million dollar franked mail service. But we would wish that Mr. Gronouski would work on the reform challenges of his office, instead of crisscrossing the country with his series of purely partisan orations. We would be more enthusiastic over moon-shot endeavors of the government if that government showed more ability in the elementary business of routing the mails expeditiously and reliably.

Renk TV Ad on Poll Is Losing Him Votes

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It appears someone is trying to sabotage Mr. Renk's Senatorial campaign. A recent TV political advertisement states that according to a poll Mr. Proxmire is the fourth worst Senator. The first time I viewed this advertisement I accepted it. But upon repeated viewings I suddenly realized I was tricked and this made me very unhappy. This advertisement is similar to advertisements declaring 85 per cent of the doctors smoke a certain brand of cigarettes when we all know the doctors were interviewed immediately after receiving a free package of this brand of cigarettes.

Legislature Can Hardly Ignore Steps to Cut Highway Traffic Toll

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It will be difficult for the new legislature to be chosen in November to ignore again the gnawing problem of highway traffic fatalities, injuries and property losses that is growing so perilously that the naked eye of Wyngaard the least observant highway user can perceive it.

Both of the candidates for the governorship have discussed the subject in unusually candid, direct and explicit terms. Both political parties have discussed the question in their platform. Thus both are committed to some remedial action, as positively as commitments can be made in state politics.

To speak of the need for improving highway safety, of course, is easy. To make a commitment on some of the probable avenues of solution is more difficult, for most of the legislative approaches which reason suggests may be effective may also be controversial, in some degree, or opposed by substantial elements of the community.

THE OUTLINE

But if the assumption is valid that the problem can no longer be ignored, then the men who make the laws are likely to draw from the comprehensive list of suggestions being readied by the Wisconsin Council of Safety, an objective and high prestige organization which has recently begun to make itself felt in the legislative arena.

The items in its high priority schedule include these that are among the lesser known:

Personal application for driver license renewals, a lowering of the presumptive blood-alcohol intoxication test level by a third, an implied consent law that would permit automatic revocation of license for conviction of intoxication while driving, compulsory motor vehicle inspection, updating of railroad crossing regulations, a requirement for reflectorized license plates on all vehicles; and Wisconsin participation in vehicle equipment and driver licensing compacts among the states.

Three major propositions are those that are widely familiar, but for one reason and another have not yet awakened enough public support to persuade the legislature to enact them.

They include an increase in the manpower strength of the State Traffic Patrol, expansion of driver education to a universal basis in the high schools, and the development of a program explicitly directed at the problem drivers who contribute a disproportionate share of the highway accidents.

Not all of these will represent a community consensus. The compulsory vehicle inspection proposal, for example, has faltered many times before because of the obviously enormous administrative machine and consequent cost that would be involved. The idea of strengthening the State Patrol involves unfortunately perhaps, the sticky question of state-county relations in the enforcement field.

COMPARISONS

The citizen, or the politician, probably cannot contemplate the grisly evidence of the severity of highway accident losses without speculating about the benefits of even more aggressive action—such as compulsory re-examination of drivers, and higher penalties for violators.

The other day the State Department of Health distributed its annual compilation of vital statistics. Its pages tell the fascinating, altogether marvelous story of the literal conquest of infectious diseases. Last year there were only 230 cases of dysentery in Wisconsin, and only two deaths, only 35 reported cases of meningitis, with 17 deaths. There were 782 reported cases of tuberculosis with only 98 deaths.

One wonders what the community reaction would be if the tuberculosis death toll would rise gradually to a toll of 1,000 a year — which is the approximate price paid in lives on the Wisconsin roads today. Drastic action would be inevitable.

Bad Situations Must Be Treated Like Pill

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Refusing to let a child read a book because he won't understand all of it is as foolish and short-sighted as refusing to let him climb the monkey bars in a playground because he's too little to get all the way to the top.

Acquiring the ability to accept a bad situation means learning to treat it like a pill — which must be swallowed down rapidly, and not chewed over, so that the bitter taste remains to choke us for a long time.

The practice of medicine, and the pocketbooks of patients, would take a tremendous turn for the better if more doctors could bring themselves to use the four simple words, "I do not know."

One of the real gradations in friendship was admirably put by Wilde, when he said, "Anybody can sympathize with the sufferings of a friend, but it requires a very fine nature to sympathize with a friend's success."

A prig is one who denies the child that remains within him, while a libertine is one who is ruled by the child that remains within him; the former is a tragedy of the past being tyrannized by the present, while the latter is a tragedy of the present being tyrannized by the past.

The same man who firmly believes that there are too many laws wants a new law passed immediately because some interest of his is adversely affected and he has no legal recourse.

Religion is not what we believe nor what we profess, not what we think, not what we hold sacred in the fastness of the soul — if it is anything meaningful, it is the way we translate our deepest feelings into our everyday activities, so that "religion" is not a single strand among others, but an ambience that unconsciously colors our attitudes and acts.

Those who worry about the increasing complexity of the social organism in the modern world would do well to reflect upon Whitehead's observation: "Each human being is a more complex structure than any social system to which he belongs."

Nothing looks more perverted from its original nature than dirty snow.

There are no true synonyms: "the words officer" and "policeman" and "cop" may stand for the same objective referent, but they connote quite different attitudes toward the constabulary.

In response to scores of letters, I apologize for having credited Ring Lardner with a line from James Thurber — "While he was no dumber than an ox, he was no smarter" — which I wrote in the country, with no reference books available.)

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

A midwest poll shows Democrats ahead more than two to one. No wonder LBJ's not worried about Barry's being trigger-happy—if he shot from the hip now he'd barely reach Lyndon's ankle.

Astronaut John Glenn becomes a director of a soft drink concern. We may not beat Russia to the Moon—but we'll be the first to hit it with an empty pop bottle.

One thing this country now has in abundance is shifty-eyed politicians—all watching teleprompters.

President Johnson went to New York to campaign for Bobby Kennedy, and no doubt there'll be the usual payoff—Bobby going to Mississippi to plug for Lyndon.

Election Polls Might Still be Surprised

Editor, Post-Crescent:
If a prediction were based on polls as to the outcome of our November 3rd elections, I suppose because of the big party machines and the press, the Democrats will win. However, it is my opinion along with many others that people are beginning to see the "light" and agree that it is way past time for a change.

Gambling Urge Getting Test In Two States

From New York Daily News
Yes, pals, we know the plural of the Latin word "referendum" is "referenda" and we're urging one and all to watch referenda scheduled for Nov. 3 in Garland County, Ark., and in the state of California.
The Arkansas vote is to be on reopening gambling casinos in Hot Springs, which fears bankruptcy following Gov. Orval Faubus' closing of the places last March.
In California voters are offered a choice between a privately and a publicly operated state lottery — if a majority of them approve some kind of lottery, the proceeds to go for education.
Results of both referenda will be most interesting, and should cast considerable light on national attitudes regarding legalized gambling. Better keep them in mind.

Martin Corrects Facts On His Voting Record

Editor, Post-Crescent:
Appearing in your newspaper on October 22 was a statement by my Democratic opponent in which he criticized my legislative voting attendance record. I feel his statement should be answered so that the voters in my assembly district have my complete voting record in contrast to one figure based out of context for political campaign purposes.
According to the chief of the Legislative Reference Bureau (Library) in Madison, Mr. H. R. Theobald, the Assembly cast 1,751 roll call votes during the 1963 legislative session. I missed 94 of the 1,751

Senator Goldwater says, let us give the "country back to the people." This continual growth of governmental agencies and political greed for favors will finally wind us up bankrupt, we are playing right into the hands of our enemies, who have said, "we do not have to fight them, they will defeat themselves."
Today our national debt is over 300 billion dollars. It would take 31 years to count one billion dollars at the rate of $11 dollars per second, staggering, is it not? When Roosevelt got in, our debt was only 16 billion dollars, so who is giving away our country? It will take all the support we can get for Goldwater to win the election, and take the country away from the hungry politicians and give it back to the people.
It sure is very disturbing when you read articles in this paper where "pressures" are applied to congressmen, etc., from our president, so that the bills he wants are passed. If they do not go along with them, their district will not be taken care of, and they will be way out on a limb.
Now is the time for all of us to get out and defeat the big machines and all the backing they have, and elect a man who will put this country back on its feet.

Too Many Coincidences In Baker, Jenkins Cases

Editor, Post-Crescent:
Your editorial, "The Jenkins Case," Tuesday Oct. 20, concludes that "the responsibility for the failure to remove Mr. Jenkins from his place of trust in President Johnson's administration falls on the FBI and Secret Service." For good measure you also seem to blame these two agencies for a President's death.
You refer to the 1961 request for a White House pass and the Jenkins' criminal, the entry of investigation, suspicious person. You criticize the Secret Service for not investigating the basis for this entry even though the White House told the Secret Service that Jenkins had a "current" top-secret clearance, when in fact the clearance was three years old.
In reaching your conclusion you seem to accept as fact that information which supports your personal beliefs and discard that which leads to another conclusion.
For instance, is it a mere coincidence that both Johnson confidants, Bobby Baker and Walter Jenkins, were forced out of their positions only after their conduct had become public knowledge?
Is it coincidence that President Johnson knew nothing of his closest advisors' private lives until the public did?
Is it coincidence that President Johnson, who exercises some control over Treasury Secretary Dillon, should be given a clean bill of health in this matter by the Secretary?
I do not believe these are mere coincidences. I think it unlikely a person could continue unaware of his "top assistants' " personal shortcomings for an extended period of time. Five years in the case of Jenkins, several years in the case of Baker.
I think it much more likely these shortcomings were known and condoned.

Editor, Post-Crescent:
In your editorial "Equal Time for What?" (Oct. 22, 1964), I thoroughly agree with everything except the concluding sentence and one other.
The other begins, "But his measured, calm delivery was aimed at furthering the image of himself as President as sort of a father figure." Perhaps the imputation may be valid, but may it not just as well be, or perhaps even more likely be, that he felt, as I do, that a measured, calm delivery in a President (or even a candidate) is preferable to an immoderate, frenzied delivery.

Effect Uncertain

As measured as a contribution to the campaign of Wisconsin Republicans, the effect of the Wednesday visit will be felt until Nov. 3. But the GOP could have found few other places in Wisconsin with a more Republican voting record than the visit which was demonstrated by a huge airport welcome.

It was Goldwater's third campaign visit to Wisconsin, a state with only 12 electoral votes, which demonstrated the state is being counted as a swing state in Goldwater's chance of victory.

This is one state he has to carry, agreed Talbot Peterson, Appleton state GOP chairman, as Goldwater's plane was leaving.

And Peterson, Wisconsin politician, said Goldwater was coming up fast and would carry Wisconsin. This was the real strategic value in the Republican visit Wednesday, he said.

We feel we can carry in this state and come were saying why doesn't Goldwater say something positive I think he did today, said Peterson.

1948 Campaign

I keep thinking of the campaign of 1948 when it suddenly occurred to me that Truman was going to beat Dewey. And all of a sudden it has come to me that I am going to beat Lyndon Johnson, was the way Goldwater put it in his Oklahoma speech.

Goldwater dismissed the meaning of the vote and said the candidates are at work daily.

Whatever the conclusion might have been, in the campaign, the state Republican movement with Goldwater in front Wednesday.

When he was a candidate for governor in 1948, Goldwater was a Republican. He was a Republican in 1948, he said.

Bolivia Army Moves Into Rebel City

LA PAZ, Bolivia, AP — Bolivian army troops moved into the rebel city of Oruro, 143 miles south of La Paz, today and anti-government radio stations said as many as 30 persons may have been killed in a clash in a nearby highway.

The government had no immediate comment on the report.

The persons were reported killed in anti-government rioting Wednesday in Oruro, center of Bolivia's tin mining region, where university students and tin miners proclaimed rebellion against the government of President Carlos Paz Estenssoro.

Clash Reported

Oruro radio stations operated by the tin miners area said the clash between government troops and a force of miners and students occurred at Oruro. It is miles from Oruro on the road to the tin mining town of Catavi.

The miners at Catavi led by Juan, and Juan Lechin, Bolivia's former vice president, have consistently opposed Paz Estenssoro. The tin miners' union called a 24-hour strike today.

Radio stations in the Catavi zone broadcast repeated calls for support of the popular rebellion.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, the ODRINEX plan. You must use only fat or soft money back. One of the basic problems of losing weight is your inability to stick to a diet plan. Share Prize

Basov, 42, and Prochorov, 48, will share the other half of the prize. They are members of the Lebedev Institute for Physics of the Soviet Academy of Science.

The Nobel Committee of the Royal Swedish Academy of Science, which chooses the physics winner, cited the Soviet-American trio for basic research within quantum electronics which has led to production of oscillators and amplifiers according to the maser-laser principle.

Townes, 49, a native of Greenville, S.C., will receive half of the $53,123 prize for his pioneering research on the maser beam. Townes in 1951 conceived of the idea for the maser, which greatly amplifies radio signals and has led to a revolution in radio and physics.

Death Ray

The maser has become commonly known both as a possible "death ray" and as a new not yet fully explored means of aiding man in medicine as well as physics.

Basov, after studies in Moscow, entered the Lebedev Institute there in 1948. Prochorov had been attached to the institute two years earlier. He was graduated from the University of Leningrad.

The two Soviet researchers developed their ideas on the maser independently of Townes and submitted them at a scientific conference in Moscow in January 1953. Their work was developed in Soviet publications over the succeeding years.

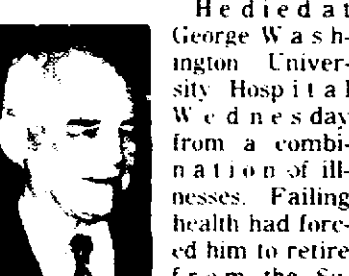

The 1962 physics winner, Lev Landau, who received the prize after he was critically injured in an accident, also worked for the Lebedev Institute of Physics. He still is not fully recovered.

Retired Supreme Justice Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton is dead at 76.

He died at George Washington University Hospital Wednesday from a combination of illnesses. Failing health had forced him to retire from the Supreme Court six years ago.

Burton, while serving as a Republican senator from Ohio, was appointed to the court in 1945 by Democratic President Harry S. Truman. They had been close friends when Truman was a senator from Missouri.

Cletus J. Johnson

The Johnson Press Releases were not printed in your local paper. You have a right to hear his side of the issues.

Although he is now back to work full time with a clean bill of health, time does not allow him to get to each county to meet you. We are therefore inserting a daily paid release so that you can properly judge the candidates.

We shall start with a short biography giving you his background which leads so much to the making of the man and his beliefs.

He was born on a farm in the town of Grover, Marinette County. His father died when he was 2 years old, leaving 8 children.

He attended a one room school in Grover, and later attended St. Mary's in Peshigo, and Menominee High.

He worked as a meat cutter for the A & P in Marinette and was later transferred to Green Bay. He enrolled in Post-Graduate courses at East and West High in Green Bay during his off hours from 1942 to 1945. He attended St. Norbert's College during the summers of 1945 and 1946. He completed 7 years of study in 5 years at the University of Wisconsin, earning a BBA Degree majoring in accounting and an LHB Degree in Law. He paid his way through the University as a member of the Meat Cutters Union.

He is married and has 4 children. He is now practicing Law in Green Bay. He is President, Auditor and General Manager of United States Celloprint Company in Green Bay, and President and Auditor of Herrmann's Business Machines, Inc. in Green Bay.

He was elected President of Jackson School PTA and is presently serving in that capacity.

His brother Max is an officer of a Green Bay food chain and his brother Willard is an officer of an Appleton food chain and Director of an Appleton Bank.

Those of us who desire to bring representation back to the 8th District, prevailed upon Mr. Johnson to run for Congress, bringing his vast knowledge and experience as a professional, business and labor man to work for Wisconsin.

In the next release we shall present the issues and the Johnson and Byrnes position on each.

Large Criticized For Vote Record, Stands He Took

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) —

Richard K. Wege, the Democratic candidate for state senate in the 14th District, attacked incumbent Sen. Gerald Lorge's record in a speech Wednesday to the Pulp and Sulphite Workers Union at Neenah Eagles Club.

"Although Lorge had a 10 per cent absentee record at senate sessions, when he did vote it was not in the best general interests of the public," Wege maintained. The Democrat assailed the incumbent's votes against a 90-cent minimum wage law and the reappointment bill to give equal votes to all Wisconsin cities.

Wege told the union members that he was in clear opposition to Lorge's votes for a bill that would have wrecked the Nelson conservation program; for a bill that would have turned state scenic highways into billboard jungles; and for another bill that Wege stated would turn three-quarters of Wisconsin lakes into private waters.
